PREFACE.

THE kind reception given by the Press to the first volume of my English Army Lists has encouraged me to proceed with a task which is, and necessarily must be, a very laborious one.

The present volume bridges over four most eventful years in English military history, viz., from the accession of James II. on the 6th of February, 1685, to the 13th of February, 1689, when the Marquis of Halifax tendered the Crown to the Prince and Princess of Orange. The special feature of this volume is the list of the field-officers and captains in the renowned English and Scots Brigades, in the service of Holland, who accompanied William of Orange to England at the Revolution. The names of these officers—which now appear for the first time collectively in a British publication—have been extracted from the Hague Archives. The source which supplied these names did not, unfortunately, include the subalterns in the English and Scots Brigades. The omission of the latter in the Dutch Commission Registers may, possibly, be accounted for in this way: “All captains and higher officers,” remarks Major Bernardi in his Autobiography, “being then commissioned by the States General and the Prince jointly, but all lieutenants, ensigns, and cornets were empowered by his Highness's breviate only.”

I have attempted to show, in the Introduction, the causes which enabled James II. to bring a splendid army of 30,000 men into the field before he was driven from his “coigne of ‘vantage.’” And, “as the history of individuals is the history of the nation,” I have annotated the regimental lists and commission registers very fully. The transcripts I have made of Commission Entry Books at the War Office and Record Office have enabled me, in many instances, to forestall the subsequent commissions of the officers who appear in the following pages. It has also been my endeavour to trace their services, and to see the last of them, either on the battle-field, or in the duelling-ground, or in the village church-yard, or in prison, or on the scaffold, or in Westminster Abbey, or at the bottom of the sea, or in honourable, or dishonourable, exile.

Nearly forty years have elapsed since the learned John D'Alton brought out his first edition of King James's Irish Army List, 1689, which is a well-known standard work. The task of editing King James's English Army Lists has now devolved upon me, and though I cannot lay claim to the genealogical grasp of my Irish namesake, I cannot but hope that these two entirely distinct Army Lists may be considered in future as companion works.

I have gratefully to acknowledge my indebtedness to Mr. A. G. Thorn, of the War Office, and to Mr. F. J. Grant, W.S., of Edinburgh, Carrick Pursuivant. I am also indebted to Mr. Salisbury, of the Public Record Office, for assistance, in various ways, when prosecuting my researches at his office.

In preparing the Index, I have again had the valuable help of Mr. F. J. Mackney, late of the MS. Department, British Museum.

INTRODUCTION.

“ . . . This I may say, never any prince took more care of his sea and land men as I have done, and been so very ill repayd by them.”—James II. to Lord Dartmouth, 10 Dec. 1688.

FROM a Service point of view, the reign of James II. promised well. The new King was well known to have the interests of both the army and navy at heart. He had seen active service on the Continent in the days of his exile, and had been closely associated with the army at home during the late reign. He was known to be a brave and experienced admiral, as he had proved himself as such in the Dutch wars. He was credited with having a good head for business and being fond of work. Lastly, he was known to share his late brother's views as to the necessity of having a standing army and a well-equipped fleet. The landing of the Duke of Monmouth, in June 1685, and the failure of the Dorsetshire militia, in the first instance, to crush this ill-planned insurrection, gave James an opportunity of increasing his army, of which he was not slow to take advantage. Twelve regiments of cavalry, and nine of infantry, were added to the army, and although the newly raised regiments were not completed in time to take part in the decisive action at Sedgemoor, none of them were disbanded when the insurrection was quelled. In addition to the above forces, the three English and three Scotch regiments in the service of Holland were, by James's request, sent to England, in June 1685, to help in crushing the rebellion. These regiments were placed on the English establishment from 5 June to 3 August, when they returned to Holland. Evelyn, in his Diary, under date of 18 July 1685, thus refers to these six crack regiments which were to play an important part in the Revolution of 1688 :—

"I went to see the muster of the six Scotch and English regiments, whom the Prince of Orange had lately sent to his Majesty out of Holland upon this rebellion, but which were now returning, there having been no occasion for their use. They were all excellently clad and well disciplined, and were encamped on Black-heath with their tents: the King and Queen came to see them exercise, and the manner of their encampment, which was very neat and magnificent."

In August, 1685, the troops in England consisted of three troops of Life Guards, ten regiments of Horse, three of Dragoons, two of Foot Guards, fourteen of Foot, and thirty independent Companies. Most of these regiments were encamped at Hounslow in above month, where they were regularly exercised and drilled by the most experienced officers of the army. On the 22 August the King reviewed all the troops in camp, and three days later we find him descanting, in a letter to his son-in-law, the Prince of Orange, on the soldier-like bearing of his troops :—

"On Saturday last I saw some of my troops at Houndslow; they consisted of tenn battallions of foott, of which three were gards and the other seven new raised regiments. Of horse there was twenty squadrons and one of Grenaders on horseback, and of Dragoons, and realy the new troupes of both sorts were in very good order, and the horse very well mounted. I was glad that the Mareschal d'Humieres saw them for severall reasons."*

James also had, doubtless, "several reasons" for wishing William of Orange to know of the material increase to the English army, and the care that was being taken to make the new troops serviceable.

It is almost needless to say that many of the officers in the new levies were Roman Catholics who had not conformed to the Test Act of 1673, which required "all persons holding civil or military appointments to take the oaths of allegiance and supremacy, and to receive the sacrament in the Established Church."

There were also a few officers of the late King's army, similarly disqualified, who had, nevertheless, eluded the Act, and were still in the service. Chief among these was George, Earl of Dumbarton, who had been sent to Scotland as C. in C. in June 1685, to quell the Earl of Argyll's futile insurrection. On his return to England, James appointed him a Lt. genl. and restored him to the command of his old regiment—the Royal Scots—which, for some years, had nominally been without a colonel, owing to Dumbarton's disqualification. This open disregard of the laws of the land had to be accounted for when the King met Parliament on 9 Nov. 1685. Evelyn thus briefly and succinctly tells what happened on that day:—

“9th Nov.—Began the Parliament: the King in his speech required continuance of a standing force instead of a militia, and indemnity and dispensation to Popish officers from the Test, demands very unexpected and displeasing to the Commons. He also demanded a supply of revenue, which they granted.”

Three days later the same writer says:—

“The Commons postponed finishing the bill for the Supply, to consider the Test and Popish officers; this was carried but by one voice.”

And a week later Evelyn chronicles:—

“The Parliament was adjourned to February, several both of Lords and Commons excepting against some passages of his Majesty's speech relating to the Test, and continuance of Popish officers in command.”

James now took the law into his own hands. On the 28 Nov. 1685 he issued fresh commissions* to all the Roman Catholic officers of his army. Having thus cut the Gordian knot, he troubled himself no further about his first Parliament, which, after repeated prorogations, was ultimately dissolved.

The King had not been above a year on the throne before he was able to show, in the famous Hales case, that the Royal Prerogative could outride, and set aside, any law.

Sir Edward Hales, Bt., a Roman Catholic gentleman of old family, had been appointed, in June 1685, colonel of one of the newly raised foot regiments. Not having conformed with the Test, he was liable, under that Act, to prosecution. His coachman was set up to inform against him and claim the reward of 500*l.* that the law gave to the informer. It was a put-up case, and the coachman was merely a tool in the matter. The result is well known. Hales was convicted at Rochester assizes, but moving for a fresh trial in the Court of King's Bench, he pleaded the King's dispensing power, and had judgment given in his favour by Sir Edward Herbert, the Chief Justice, who declared that there was nothing with which the King might not dispense. Eleven of the twelve judges to whom the matter was referred adhered to this decision, having been primed beforehand. Armed with this dispensing power, James now proceeded to entirely remodel the army in Ireland.

It will not be going beyond the province of this work to refer shortly to the remodelling of the Irish army, as five Irish regiments were brought over from Ireland, at the Revolution, and temporarily placed on the English establishment.

At the close of Charles the Second's reign the Irish army consisted of a regiment of foot guards (of 12 companies); about 24 troops of horse, and 74 companies of foot.* In 1685 the troops of horse and companies of foot were regimented, and a regiment of dragoons was raised, which did good service in England, until the Monmouth rebellion was quelled. These regiments were indiscriminately officered by Protestants and Roman Catholics; the ranks were likewise open to men of both creeds. So far so good. The Earl of Clarendon—a nobleman of strict integrity and great ability—was appointed Lord Lieutenant of Ireland in Sept. 1685. But special power to place and displace such officers, and private soldiers, as he might think fit, was shortly afterwards granted to the Earl of Tyrconnel, who was appointed Lt.-General of the forces in Ireland. This newly created peer returned to Dublin early in June 1686, with full instructions from the King. He lost no time in declaring his zeal for his master's service in a private conversation with Lord Clarendon, who details what passed in a letter* to the Lord Treasurer, dated from Dublin Castle, 8 June 1686:—

“ My lord (said Tyrconnel), I am sent hither to view this army, and to give the King an account of it: here are great alterations to be made; and the poor people, who are put out, think it my doing; and, God d——n me, I have little or nothing to do in the matter: for I told the King, that I knew not two of the captains nor other inferior officers in the whole army. I know there are some hard cases, which I am sorry for, but by G—d I know not how to help them. You must know, my lord, the King who is a Roman Catholiek is resolved to employ his subjects of that religion; as you will find by the letters I have brought you: and, therefore, some must be put out to make room for such as the King likes. And I can tell you another thing; the King will not keep one man in his service who ever served under the usurpers.”

And so it came to pass. Many Protestant officers were deprived of their commissions and Roman Catholics put in their places. About 5,000 private soldiers were dismissed the service and turned adrift without their regimentals, which by right belonged to them.† Lord Clarendon did his best to act as a drag on the fiery Tyrconnel's policy, but without avail. The latter carried out James's orders to the very letter, and finding his progress impeded by the conscientious Clarendon, never rested until he had ousted the Lord Lieutenant, into whose shoes Tyrconnel stepped in Jan. 1687. In two short years retributive justice decreed that there should be two armies in Ireland, each hostile to the other, and each composed of men who were determined to fight to the bitter end in the cause of religion.

Returning now to the English army, we find it, in June 1686, again encamped on Hounslow Heath, where the King, in person, held frequent reviews and shared the camp life of his soldiers. During the late reign military displays at Hounslow were of frequent occurrence, and were honoured by the presence of the King, who drove down occasionally from London. But these same royal visits partook more of pleasure than business, and we may feel sure the Merry Monarch did not look very closely into the minutiae appertaining to an army. Far otherwise was it with James. He looked into things himself, and spared no pains to bring his army up to a high standard of efficiency. In a letter in the Ellis Correspondence, dated from London, 26 June 1686, occurs this passage:—

“All the army is now at Hounslow, in a line of 2,930 paces, about 16,000 strong. On Wednesday the great review is. The King does really harass himself so, that I fear he wastes beyond what can be imagined.”

Passing on to 1687, we find several foot regiments encamped on Hounslow Heath early in May, and preparations making for the cavalry regiments to follow suit. The King’s zeal in military affairs is again referred to in a letter* dated from London, 14 May 1687:—

“The King hath had a touch of the gout, but unwilling to believe it so; cannot draw on a boot, but yet was through his military ranks in shoes and stockings.”

An historian (Dalrymple) tell us that James “caressed the officers and flattered the soldiers,” and that it was the King’s intention to establish a “perpetual encampment on Hounslow Heath,” so as to render himself “independent of his Parliament.”

* Ellis Correspondence, I. p. 293.

With a view to ingratiate himself with the officers of the 1st and 2nd Foot Guards, James conferred upon the captains of these two favoured regiments, the additional rank of lieut.-colonel. This step of rank was granted in July 1687, and, whatever may be said to the contrary, the act was a gross abuse of privilege on the King’s part, and palpably unfair to all the other regiments excepting the Life Guards, in which latter case additional rank had been conferred when this corps élite was first raised. Another abuse, establishing a very dangerous precedent, was practised in this reign,* which increased to such an extent during the whole of the 18th century—and even to the beginning of this—that it became a crying evil. This was the granting commissions to infants in the nursery.

The appointment of George Lord Ettrick (only son and heir of James’s favourite general, Lord Dumbarton), to be captain in the Royal Scots Regiment of Foot, on the 23 Oct. 1688, was a flagrant instance of abuse of privilege, as the said “officer” was only 18 months old when he received this commission, and twenty-seven years elapsed before he became a bonâ fide soldier!

When he did so it was as lieut.-colonel of an infantry regiment. The well-known story of the “major crying for his parrisch” was not a nursery fiction, nor was the equally true, but less well known, anecdote of the nurse breaking into the dining-room, in the midst of a dinner party, to inform her master that the “colonel and the captain were a-fighting so in the nursery she could not separate them,” a mere fable.

* In the late reign Piercy Kirke was appointed ensign in the Duchess of York’s Regt. of Ft., and is believed to have been the son of Col. Piercy Kirke. If he was son of the latter, his age, in 1684, when commissioned by Chas. II. as ensign, was two years old !

The public indignation roused by the committal of the Seven Bishops to the Tower, in the spring of 1688, for refusing to read, or sanction, the King's declaration of indulgence in the churches, was largely shared in by the army. We are told that:—

“The very soldiers that kept guard in the Tower would frequently drink good health to the bishops; which being understood by Sir Edward Hales, constable of the Tower, he sent orders to the captain of the guard to see it was done no more; but the answer he received was that they were doing it at the very instant, and would drink that, and no other health, while the bishops were there.” *

And when the Bishops were acquitted, on 30 June, the tumultuous joy of the soldiers encamped on Hounslow Heath, when they heard the welcome intelligence, disturbed the King, who was resting in Lord Feversham's tent after reviewing his troops, and he enquired the cause of the uproar. Lord Feversham replied:—

“It was nothing but the rejoicing of the soldiers for the acquittal of the bishops. ‘Do you call that nothing?’ replied the King. ‘But so much the worse for them.’”

Undeterred by these ominous warnings, James still counted on his personal popularity with the army, and navy, to carry out his arbitrary designs with the help of the two services. Sir John Dalrymple gives the following account (under date of July 1688) of the King's attempt to feel the military pulse:—†

“Finding the civil and ecclesiastical courts insufficient for the accomplishment of his will, James gave orders to sound the different regiments at Blackheath if they would stand by him in the abrogation of the tests. The major ‡ of Litchfield's regiment made a speech to the soldiers and ordered all those to lay down their arms who would not comply with their Sovereign's desire. The whole regiment, except a few, threw their arms upon the ground. The King was on the field. He was struck motionless at the sight. But, after some pause, he ordered them to take up their muskets, and said, with a sullen ambiguity, ‘That he would do them the honour to ask their advice another time.’”

‡ George Trappes, a Roman Catholic.—ED.

Imbued with the large ideas of kingly power which had descended to him direct from his father and grandfather, James was determined to continue his imprudent and unconstitutional attempts against the laws of his country. He foresaw, with a soldier's eye, that civil war and possible invasion were likely to ensue, and he prepared accordingly. Before increasing his army he applied to the Prince of Orange for the six British regiments in Holland to be sent home. The King's letter, * dated 17 Jan. 1688, ran as follows:—

"I have charged my envoy, Mons. d'Abbeville, who will give you this letter, to give you an account that I think it for my service to call home the six regiments of my subjects that are under your command in the States' service; and have written to the States to the same purpose, and hope you will do your part to further their being embarked as soon as may be. What else I have to say on this subject I refer to my envoy; which is all I shall say now, but that you shall find me as kind to you as you can desire."

The six regiments were not sent, but leave was given to such officers as wished to return to England to do so. About forty availed themselves of this opportunity, and quitted the Dutch service. Three regiments of foot were now formed and taken into the pay of the King of France, who had proposed to maintain a body of 2,000 men, in England, to be principally of the Roman Catholic Church.

The remodelling of the Irish army, by Lord Tyrconnel, having given entire satisfaction to James, the latter thought fit to try and introduce a leavening of Irish Roman Catholic soldiers into the English army. The attempt to foist five Irishmen into each company of the Duke of Berwick's Regiment of Foot * (then quartered at Portsmouth) was stoutly resisted by the lt.-col. commanding the regiment (John Beaumont), and five of the captains, viz., Simon Paeke, Thos. Orme, John

Port, Wm. Cook, and Thos. Paston. These six officers were tried by a Council of War and cashiered. To their eternal credit be it told, that when the Prince of Orange's invasion was a certainty, Col. Beaumont and his five officers hastened "to guard that honour which had been regardless of theirs." *

When news reached England of the great preparations on foot, in Holland, for the immediate invasion of England, James began his preparations in real earnest. By the commencement of November, five regiments of horse, and five of foot, had been added to the English establishment, † and two more foot regiments (Col. Carne's and Lord Stafford's) were partly raised when the final crash came. In addition to the above troops, a good many independent troops of horse, and foot companies, were raised by the nobility and gentry. All the regiments on the Scotch establishment were ordered to march to London, and five regiments on the Irish establishment were ordered from Ireland. The old regiments were brought up to war strength, and the Board of Ordnance used strenuous exertions in preparing a train of artillery ‡ to march with the army. When the Prince of Orange landed at Torbay, on 5 Nov., the Royal army consisted of 30,000 men. Let us glance at some of the leading characters in this army before it melts away, by reason of the disaffection and desertion of those who were expected to be its support and mainstay.

The three senior lieut.-generals of James's army were Lords Feversham, Dumbarton, and Churchill. § The first named, who was commander-in-chief, was nephew of the great Turenne, but the latter's mantle had not fallen on the "general who knew how to devastate, but not to conquer." Dumbarton, who was a maj.-general in the French army, had seen considerable service on the Continent, and was a tried soldier. His regt. (the Royal Scots) consisted at this time of 26 companies, and was about 2,000 strong.* It is recorded of Dumbarton, when the officers of the Royal army were deserting in numbers at Salisbury, that he asked leave to attack the Prince of Orange's army with his single regt., which was in splendid condition, and in whose fidelity the colonel had implicit confidence.† Of John, Lord Churchill's generalship and soldier-like qualities, nothing need be said, and of his fidelity to the Sovereign to whom he owed his advancement in life the less said the better. Of the maj.-generals, one deserves special mention here, viz., Maj.-Gen. Jno. Graham, of Claverhouse. Graham—the relentless foe to the Scotch Covenanters—was created Viscount Dundee 12 Nov. 1688. His fidelity to the cause of James, and his romantic death in the hour of victory, went far to atone for the many faults of a vindictive nature, which neither knew how to forgive nor forget. His advice to James in the crisis at Salisbury, "either to fight the Prince or to go to him in person and demand his business in England," was characteristic of his bold nature. Brigdr.-Gen. Piercy Kirke ‡ appears on the scene now. Although not the demoniacal fiend some writers have depicted him, he was certainly savage and brutal to no small extent. Tradition has handed down some unpleasant stories about Kirke and his regiment, which was jocularly known as "Kirke's Lambs." Here are two anecdotes from contemporary writers relative to the “Lambs” :—

* Dalrymple says "5,000"!

“ Last Thursday [Aug. —, 1688], an officer of Col. Kirk’s regt. wounded a waterman upon the Thames for dashing of him with water ; he is not yet dead, but the officer is said to abscond.” *

And :—

“ About Christmas [1689], there happened an unlucky accident at Belfast. Cranmer, Bowls, and Morley, three lieutenants in Maj.-Gen. Kirk’s Regt., happened to kill two masters of ships, and being tried by a court-martial, the thing appeared so ill that they were all three shot.” †

Conspicuous among those who remained faithful to their King through all his troubles were Brigdr.-Generals Arthur, Lord Forbes ;‡ Jas. Earl of Arran (aftds. Duke of Hamilton) ; Thos. Buchan (aftds. Commander-in-Chief in Scotland) ; Cols. Pat. Sarsfield (created Earl of Lucan by Jas. II. in 1689), who was worth 1,000 men at least, and whose death at Landen cut short the career of a glorious leader of men ; Count Anthony Hamilton (the witty and accomplished author of the Memoires de Grammont) ; Charles, Earl of Selkirk, and Charles, Earl of Dunmore —the former col. of horse and the latter col. of dragoons ; Capts. Colin, Earl of Balcarres (who risked his life on several future occasions by engaging in Jacobite plots) ; Simon Luttrell (aftds. Govr. of Dublin and col. of dragoons for Jas. II.) ; Lord Wm. Murray (aftds. Lord Nairne, who was condemned to death for high treason, in 1715, but was reprieved) ; and John Creichton (of the Scots Dragoons), who, at the age of 82, found an amanuensis, in the person of Dean Swift, to write his stirring memoirs.

‡ Succeeded his father as 2nd Earl of Granard in 1696. For his loyalty to Jas. II. was sent to the Tower in Dec. 1688. “ William asked him why he did not look after his regt. Forbes said, having been born in Ireland, he had not credit enough, he believed, to raise men to fill up the places of the papists ; he also declined to enter into the service of another Prince during his Majesty’s life.”—Capt. Creichton’s Memoirs.

Two of the officers in the Royal army lived to become Field-Marshal,—viz., Lord George Hamilton (Capt. in the Rl. Scots), who was aftds. created Earl of Orkney, and appointed premier Field-Marshal of England, in 1736; and Richd. Temple (ens. and adjt. in Prince George of Denmark's Regt. of Foot) the future Visct. Cobham. And James's well-loved natural son—James, Duke of Berwick—became a Marshal of France, and finished a glorious military career at the siege of Philipsburg, in 1734, where he was killed. To the above trio must be added two of James's officers who eventually won titles by their military achievements, viz., Geo. Carpenter (aftds. Lord Carpenter) and Chas. O'Hara (aftds. Baron Tyrawly), who both attained the rank of Commander-in-Chief.

Not a few naval officers of distinction held commissions in James's army in 1688, viz., Admiral Lord Dartmouth (Adml. of the Fleet), who was Master of the Ordnance and Col. of the Rl. Fusiliers; Adml. Sir Jno. Berry (capt. in the Holland Regt.); Capts. Mathew Aylmer (aftds. Adml. Lord Aylmer); Geo. Aylmer (killed in the naval action in Bantry Bay, 1 May 1689); "Dick" Carter (Govr. of Southsea Castle), whom James "believed to be an honest man," and who fell at the battle of Barfleur, where he had command of a division of the fleet, 19 May 1692; George Churchill (capt. in the Rl. Dragoons); Ralph Delaval (capt. in the 1st Foot Gds.); George Rooke (capt. in Prince George of Denmark's Regt.), the future hero of Gibraltar; and John Tyrwhitt (Govr. of Scarborough Castle), whose letters to Lord Dartmouth must have caused some amusement to the recipient, if written in the same style as the following:—

"Dec. 3rd, 1688, ship Cambridge.—His Lordship's generous charity, shewn in the interest he made on the writer's behalf with the late King, has kept him from wanting bread, and encourages him to make a further trial of his honour's kindness. Having lost by this late sickness most of his good head of hair, would beg of his Lordship to bestow on him one of his worst short periwigs, to keep his head from the cold, and to enable him to come on board and kiss his Lordship's hands and give him humble thanks; for if periwigs were to be bought here for thirteen pence a piece, he were not able to purchase one, having but two sixpences in the whole world."

And last, but not least, we must add to the above list three young military officers who lived to shed a lustre on the naval profession, viz., Lt. Geo. Byng (aftds. Viset. Torrington), who fought as a volunteer at Tangier, under Kirke, where he distinguished himself, and was appointed ensign in the Duchess of York's Regt. of Foot, in 1681, in which regt. he served until the Revolution. Byng acted as "go-between" in winning over the naval officers to the Prince of Orange, and the latter took him into high favour. Lt. Stafford Fairborne (of the Queen Dowager's Regt.) who was knighted in 1701, and became Admiral of the Fleet in 1708; and Capt. Rich. Fitz-Patrick (of Col. Nicholas's Regt. of Ft.), who subsequently commanded a man-of-war, and was created Baron Gowran in 1715.

Many of the officers who held commissions in the Royal army, in 1688, earned unenviable distinction, a few years later, by being proclaimed guilty of high treason, and rewards offered for their apprehension. Luttrell, in his Relation of State Affairs, writing under the date of 12 May 1692, says:—

"This morning came out their Majesties' proclamation for the discovering, seizing, and apprehending the Earls of Searsdale and Lichfield; Lord Griffin; the Earls of Newburgh, Middleton, and Dunmore; Lord Forbes, Sir Jno. Fenwick, Sir Theophilus Oglethorpe; Cols. Slingsby, Jas. Grahame, Sackville, Orby, Oliver St. George, Mr. Soper, Chas. Adderley, David Lloyd, George Porter, and Edwd. Stafford, who had fled, and to commit them for high treason."

Three and a half years later a notable Jacobite conspiracy was formed in France, which is known in history as "Sir George Barclay's Assassination Plot," and in which the majority of the conspirators were ex-officers of James II's. 1688 army. Boyer, the historian of Wm. III's. reign, thus refers to this conspiracy :—

" Sir George Barclay,* an officer in King James's Guards, came over to England [in Dec. 1695], and brought with him a commission from the late King, to attack and seize the Prince of Orange in his winter quarters. Before him, with him, or after him, two and twenty more of King James's officers, who had instructions to obey Sir George Barclay, came also to England."

The above conspiracy was joined by Lt. De La Rue, of Brigdr. Leveson's Regiment of Dragoons, and a Mr. Pendergrass, who, when they discovered the desperate nature of the plot in which they had engaged, laid the whole scheme bare. Hence the Royal Proclamation of 23 Feb. 1696, offering :—

" 1,000*l.* reward for any of the below named conspirators, viz., the Duke of Berwick, Sir Geo. Barclay, Major Lowick, Capts. Geo. Porter, Stow, Walbanck, Jas. Courtney; Lts. Sherburn, Brice Blair, Dinant, Chambers, Boise (sic), Geo. Higgens (sic) and his two brothers, sons to Sir Thos. Higgens, &c." †

In addition to the above, Lt. Robt. Charnock (formerly Vice-President and Fellow of Magdalen College, Oxford), whose name figures in the 1688 army list, being implicated in the above plot, was tried, condemned, and executed. Major Robt. Lowick (a gallant Yorshireman, who had served both in James's English and Irish army) shared the same fate, and the brave, tho' unprincipled, Sir John Fenwick, Bt., was beheaded on Tower Hill, for his supposed share in the conspiracy to murder Wm. III. Capt. George Porter and Lt. Bryce Blair saved their own necks by turning King's evidence and betraying their fellow-conspirators.‡

Less fortunate was the gallant Major John Bernardi (son of Count Francis Bernardi of Genoa), who had served as capt. in Col. Jno. Hales's Regt. of Foot in 1688 and aftds. in James's Irish army.* Suspected of complicity in Barclay's Plot, he was imprisoned in Newgate, and there remained for forty years until death released him in 1736.

We now come to an entirely different kind of conspiracy, in which a gallant Scotch baronet, who had a company in Col. Jno. Wachop's Regt., at the Revolution, played a leading part, and ended his eventful career at Tyburn in Dec. 1691. The conspiracy in question was hatched by Capt. the Hon. Jas. Campbell, of Burnbank and Boquhaun, 4th son of the 9th Earl of Argyll, and its object was the seizing, carrying off, and marrying a young heiress. Campbell was to be the bridegroom, and Mary Wharton the bride. The latter was only thirteen years old, but had a fortune of 50,000*l.* For the better carrying out his design, Campbell took into his confidence Capt. Sir Jno. Johnston, Bt., of Caskieben, and Mr. Montgomery —two trusted Scotch friends. In the gloom of a November afternoon, when this child was out shopping with her aunt, Mrs. Byerley, in London, she was suddenly seized, hustled into a coach, that was in waiting close by, and driven off to some conventicle, where a form of marriage was gone through between Campbell and the heiress-child. Thence the three conspirators escorted the bride to Campbell's lodgings, where she remained two whole days before she was discovered. A great hue and cry was raised by the abduction of this young heiress. Lord Wharton brought his influence to bear upon Wm. III., and a Royal proclamation was the immediate result. Rewards were offered for the apprehension of Campbell, Montgomery, and Johnston. The two first escaped into Scotland, but Johnston was betrayed by his landlady for the sake of the reward of 50*l.*, and he was sent to Newgate. Altho' far less guilty than Campbell, he was an accessory after the fact, and his plea that he would never have connived at the abduction, had he not been told, as well as seen himself, that Miss Wharton was a consenting party, did not hold good, as no one knew better than Johnston that a child of thirteen was not capable of judging for herself in such a momentous crisis. To propitiate Lord Wharton and his family, as well as to offer a sop to the public, whose feelings had been lately set against Scotchmen, Johnston was tried at the Old Bailey, and sentenced to be hung. He bravely met his death on 20 Dec. 1691. The poem known as "Capt. Johnston's Last Farewell"/* was written after his death, and was more calculated to cause amusement at the expense of the deceased baronet, than to inspire any pity. The last four lines of this "farewell" are:—

"My landlord and his subtle wife,
I do forgive them here;
Farewell, this transitory life,
Your laws are most severe."

If Johnston had his enemies he also had his friends, one of whom wrote a "Lament," of which halting effusion the following stanza is a good specimen:—

"Ah! Johnston, thou art gone! misfortune's hand
Has broke the glasse and scatter'd thy frail sand;
Grim death an envy'd triumph has obtained—
A too, too early conquest he has gain'd."

The sequel to the above tragedy has still to be told. A Bill was brought into Parliament, on 4 Dec. 1691, to render void the marriage between Miss Wharton and Capt. Campbell, which, notwithstanding the Earl of Argyll—not liking so much money to go out of the family—petitioned against it, passed both Houses on 13 Dec. 1691. The young lady, who was neither wife, maid, nor widow, married her first cousin, Col. Robt. Byerley, the 15th March 1692.*

It is pleasant to turn from conspiracies and conspirators to a comic scene enacted at Scarborough in Augt. 1688, in which Capt. Wm. Wolseley (of Lord Montgomery's Regt. of Foot), the future distinguished leader of the Enniskilleners in the Irish campaigns of Wm. III., played the leading part. The story is best given in the words of a local historian :—†

“ King James II. using his utmost endeavours to restore popery throughout his dominions, caused a declaration to be published on April 27, 1688, for liberty of conscience, ordering the same to be read in every Protestant church in England. A copy of this being sent to the mayor of Scarborough, he ordered the minister to read the same, publicly, at church, in the desk or pulpit, on the following Sunday. The conscientious minister, being no friend to popery, refused to obey his orders, on which the mayor caned him in the reading-desk during the time of divine service. This behaviour being disliked by some of the congregation (though probably by none more than the divine himself), was particularly taken up by a captain in the army who was then at church. The officer took the liberty next day to send for the mayor to the old Bowling Green ; but the mayor taking no notice of this message, the captain sent a file of musqueteers to compel his attendance ; these having brought him to the said place, he was obliged to undergo the rough treatment of being tossed in a blanket.‡ Soon after which, the mayor set out for London to obtain redress from the King.”

The sequel to the above is told in a contemporary letter § dated Sept. 11, 1688 :—

“ Another complaint will suddenly be brought before them [i.e. the Coucile of War] by the mayor of Scarborogh, who says he was tossed in a blanket by the order of Capt. Waseley (sic), who quarters in that town. What provocation the mayor gave is not said, but a messenger is sent to bring the Captain vp in custody.”

* Luttrell's Diary, under date of 22 Meh. 1692.

† See An historical and descriptiue Guide to Scarborough, p. 65.

‡ “The extraordinary form of apprehending and degrading by the ceremony of the blanket was publicly performed on Mr. Aislaby, the last mayor of Scarborough, 12 Aug. 1688, by Catts. Carvill, Hanmer, Fitzherbert, Rodney, and Ouseley” (sic). Ibid. p. 67.

§ Ellis Correspondence, II. p. 169.

The same writer tells us, in a letter dated from London
29 Sept. 1688 :—

"The Mayor of Scarborough, and Capt. Waseley (sic), who tossed the other in a blanket, were heard last night before the Council. The Captain pleaded his Majesty's gracious general pardon, which is in the press, and so both were dismissed."

Wolseley's force of character, and championship of Protestant freedom, stood him in good stead with Wm. of Orange, who both promoted and advanced him in the profession he was so well fitted to adorn.

Retracing our steps to the Royal army, we find it marching towards Salisbury, the rendezvous of the army, the second week in Nov. 1688. Before the King joined his troops on 20 Nov. wholesale desertions of officers had taken place. The names of most of these delinquents are to be found in the following pages, and need not be recapitulated here. The story is a sad one. What made it worse was that the officers who joined the Prince of Orange were not content with merely going over themselves, but did their best to take their regiments bodily with them. For instance, Lord Cornbury, the senior officer with the army, on the night of 11 Nov., made an attempt to carry the Rl. Dragoons over to the Prince of Orange's camp near Axminster, by means of letters containing supposititious marching orders from the Secretary-at-War. Lt.-Col. Thos. Langston, of the Duke of St. Albans's Regt. of Horse, and Lt.-Col. Sir Fras. Compton, of the Royal Regt. of Horse Guards, were in league with Cornbury, and it was arranged that all three regts. should march together. The design was partly successful, but only partly, owing to the loyalty of Major Robt. Clifford, of the Royal Dragoons, who, when he discovered the treachery of his colonel, marched back the greater part of the regt. to Salisbury. Major Littleton of the Horse

Guards behaved equally loyally, but Langston managed to march his regt. to Honiton, without exciting the suspicion of his officers and men, and the latter were received as friends by Col. Tollemache, who commanded the advanced guard of the Prince's troops. An old Jacobite song, published about 1692, called "The Belgick Boar," and sung to the tune of "Chevy Chase," runs thus:—

“O how my very heart doth bleed,
To think how basely they
Who long had eaten Royal bread
Their master did betray.

“And those to whom he'd been most kind,
And greatest favours shown,
Appeared to be the very first
Who sought him to dethrone.

“O Compton, Langston, and the rest,
Who basely from him ran,
Your names for ever be accurs'd
By every Englishman.”

Whilst James's army was rapidly decreasing, the Prince of Orange's was gaining recruits day by day. The latter army is thus described in a letter written from Exeter 14 Nov. 1688:—

"We conclude the Prince's army to be about 10,000 men. They are all picked men; most of them were at the siege of Breda. They are well disciplined, stout, and some of them of an extraordinary stature; their civil deportment and their honesty in paying for whatever they have (and the strictness of their discipline hinders them from being otherwise) winning not a little the affection of the countrymen, who resort hither forty or fifty in a gang to be enlisted."

A week later another writer tells us that:—

"The Prince's army is 20,000 strong. The Prince will not raise many new regts., by reason he expects the King's army for the most part will come over to him." *

Conspicuous among the officers who accompanied Wm. of Orange to England were: Frederick, Count Schomberg,

Marshal of France; the Earl of Shrewsbury, who had commanded a regt. of horse in James's army; Chas. Visct. Mordaunt, better known as the Earl of Peterborough and Monmouth—intrinsically interesting both as a general and diplomatist; Major-General Hugh Mackay and Col. Tollemache, both of whom died afterwards in the service of their country—the former on the bloody field of Steinkirk, and the latter of wounds received in the expedition to Brest in 1694; Admirals Arthur Herbert and Edwd. Russell—the former of whom commanded the fleet, which brought the Prince of Orange and his army to England, for which he was created Earl of Torrington, and the latter the hero of the victory over the French fleet off La Hogue in 1692, for which he was created Earl of Orford; Cols. Jno. Cutts, afterwards known as the fighting Lord Cutts, whom Marlborough surnamed the “Salamander” on account of his charmed life in battle under the hottest fire; Henry Sidney, afterwards Earl of Romney and Master-General of the Ordnance; Henry, Lord Cardross, who “got across” with the Lauderdale Ministry in Scotland, and was long an exile in America and Holland, but returned “on the top of a wave,” at the Revolution; and lastly, Lt.-Col. (aftds. Lt.-Gen.) David Colyear, the future Earl of Portmore, whose character was thus briefly described by John Macky * about 1702:—

“He is one of the best foot officers in the world ; is very brave and bold, hath a great deal of wit ; very much a man of honour, and nice that way ; yet married the Countess of Dorchester, and had by her a good estate ; pretty well shaped, dresses clean, has but one eye, towards fifty years old.”

Having said so much about the two rival armies opposed to each other in November 1688, it is sad to have to relate that after being six days at Salisbury, James thought fit to retreat, with part of his army, to London, upon hearing that the Prince was advancing against him. James and his army have been likened to—

* Portraits of the English Nobility, by J. Macky, p. 161.

“The King of France with 20,000 men
All drew their swords and put them up again.”

But James II. was not “the coward who dared not fight for such a land.” He had received abundant proof that if it came to a general engagement many of the superior officers, who had not openly deserted, like Churchill, Grafton, Ormonde, Cornbury, &c., &c., would decline to fight against the upholder of Protestantism. The very night James came to Salisbury, Lord Feversham had informed him “that, though the private men were steady, the officers in general could not be depended upon.”* It is even said that Feversham “proposed to James to dismiss all the suspected officers, and to place, for a few days, the most trusty sergeants in their stead.”†

The King’s retreat—which is said to have drawn tears from the eyes of the private soldiers of his army—was the beginning of the end. A half-hearted engagement at Wincanton, in Dorsetshire, where an advanced party of the Prince’s encountered one of the King’s, that was thrice their number, resulted in the discomfiture of the Royal troops. And a second skirmish, at Reading, on Sunday, 9 Dec. 1688, resulted in a party of Col. Butler’s Irish Dragoons, and some troops of Scotch Horse under the veteran Earl of Airlie, being signally defeated by some Dutch cavalry under Count Nassau. This fight at Reading has been chronicled in an old rhyme (printed in 1688), “sung to the tune of ‘Lillibullero:’”—

“Five hundred Papishes came there,
To make a final end
Of all the town, in time of prayer,
But God did them defend.”

* Dalrymple’s Memoirs.

Bishop Burnet * relates the following curious fact connected with the fight at Reading:—

“One of the prince’s officers was shot. He was a papist: and the prince, in consideration of his religion, was willing to leave him behind him in Holland: but he very earnestly begged he might come over with his company: and he was the only officer that was killed in the whole expedition.”

This officer’s name is not mentioned by any writer, but in the burial registers of St. Giles’ Church, Reading, occurs this entry under 12 Dec. 1688:—“Capt. Conaby,† of the Prince.”

This Englishman’s fate seems to have been a judgment upon him for fighting against the upholder of the faith to which this officer himself professed to belong.

The very day (11 Dec.) that James first attempted to leave the kingdom, one battalion of the Scots Foot Guards (500 strong) went over bodily to Wm. of Orange under the command of a sergeant and two corporals.‡ It is needless to say that their commander, Lt.-Gen. Douglas, was privy to this wholesale defection. The Earl of Balcarres, in his own Memoirs, when referring to Gen. Douglas’s conduct at the Revolution, says:—“None in ‘all the Revolution acted a blacker part . . . he ‘sent in a battalion of the Scots Guards.’”

The cynicism of fate decreed that James, who had raised a large standing army, against the wishes of Parliament, should himself be the first to voluntarily give orders for the disbanding his troops. Yet so it was. Before leaving Whitehall, on the morning of 11 Dec. 1688, the King left a paper directing the Earl of Faversham to disband the army. This Royal order was read at the head of many of the regts., which were disbanded, some with, some without, their arms.* But, the reins of power falling directly after this event into the Prince of Orange's capable hands, by reason of the King's abdication, the flooding the country with thousands of disaffected and starving men was happily stopped. For his share in this ill-advised act, Faversham was clapped into prison, and only liberated, a fortnight afterwards, by the special request of the Queen Dowager, who said “she missed her game of basset of an evening with her chamberlain—the earl”!

If we may judge from the number of duels fought in the reign of James II., military society was not quite what it ought to have been. For such a slight cause as a dispute at a tavern as to who had the best right to pay for a certain piece of beef that had been eaten, a baronet (Sir Charles Pym), was done to death by one Rowland Walters, in the presence of the latter's friends—Capt. Ambrose Cave, and Lt. Dering Bradshaw.† And a still more startling case of homicide occurred about the 1st of Dec. 1688, which is set forth in the London Gazette of 3 Dec.

“Advertisement.—Whereas Capt. Geo. Hastings, of H. M.'s the Queen's Regt. of Horse, commanded by the Hon. Sir Jno. Laneer, having barbarously murdered Capt. Samuel English in his bed, at Henley upon Thames, being of the same regt., and immediately made his escape with one Samuel Reynor, corporal in his own troop, accessory to the said murder, the captain being upon a black horse and the corporal upon a large black gelding with one eye: Whoever shall keep and secure the said captain and corporal, and give notice to Mr. Freckleton in Tuttle St., Westminster, shall have a considerable reward.”

* Ellis Correspondence, II. p. 253.

† Walters, Cave, and Bradshaw were tried for manslaughter at the Old Bailey. Walters was found guilty, but Cave and Bradshaw were acquitted. Curious to relate, Ambrose Cave was murdered by a brother officer (Capt. Biron) in 1690.

<sup>1</sup> Geo. Fitz-Roy, 3rd natural son of King Chas. II. by Barbara, Duchess of Cleveland. Created Earl in 1674 and Duke in 1683. Married the widow of Capt. Tho. Luey, of Charlecote, and, wearying of her soon after, "was willing to cut that knot he had so rashly tied" (Ellis Correspondence). To effect this, "he and his brother Grafton vainly attempted to spirit away his wife" (Evelyn's Diary). At the Revolution he turned all the Roman Catholics out of his troop. In April 1689 was superseded by the Duke of Ormonde. Queen Anne made him Col. of the Rl. H. Gds., and in Jan. 1712 restored him to the colonelcy of the 2nd Tp. of Life Gds. D.s.p. 28 June 1716.

<sup>2</sup> See Vol. I., p. 151. Of the Princess Anne of Denmark's household. One of the first officers to go over to Wm. of Orange in Nov. 1688. Created an Irish visct. Superseded Sir Jno. Talbot as Col. of a regt. of Horse 31 Dee. 1688. D.s.p. of fever, at Chester, in Dee. 1689.

<sup>3</sup> See Vol. I., p. 188. Appointed Col. of the Queen's Regt. of Ft. (4th Foot) 11 Nov. 1688, but was removed therefrom by the Pr. of Orange in the following month, and the former colonel (Trelawny), whom Orby had superseded, was reinstated.

<sup>5</sup> According to Le Neve, this officer was son of Sr. Richd. Browne, senior alderman of London, who was created a Bart. Kted. 29 May 1660. Is said to have been a colonel in King William's wars in Flanders, and to have been killed, without issue, 1693 "or y'. abouts."

<sup>1</sup> Nephew of Turenne and brother of the Duke de Duras, in France. Was naturalised by Act of Parlt. 17th Chas. II. C. in C. at Sedgemoor, where he was nearly caught napping by Monmouth. A partial French writer says: "Marlborough learnt the art of war from Feversham." Lord Macaulay was of another opinion. Succeeded the Duke of Albemarle as Capt. and Col. of the 1st Tp. of Gds. 1 Aug. 1685, but the Captncy. of the Guard was given to Churchill, who succeeded Feversham in the cmd. of the 3rd Tp. C. in C. of the army of Jas. II. at the Revolution. (See Introduction.) D. 1709, when his honours became extinct.

<sup>3</sup> See Vol. I., p. 204 (note). M.P. for Morpeth Borough. Attacked and defeated with much loss a detachment of Monmouth's army at Caniston Bridge, near Bristol. Distinguished himself at Sedgemoor. Kted. by Jas. II., and made Col. of the Holland regt. of Ft. Refused to serve under Wm. III. A cock-and-bull story was set afloat, after this officer's death in 1704, that the Prince of Wales (about whose birth so many lies were told by zealous Orange supporters) was really son of Sir Theoph. and Lady Oglethorpe, who had apartments in Windsor Castle at the time of the Royal birth.

<sup>9</sup> Served at Sedgemoor, where he killed Matthews, who commanded the rebel Horse. Capt. in the Earl of Plymouth's Regt. of Horse 27 March 1687.

* M. E. B. I. This regt. now ranks as the 3rd Hussars. It was composed of 4 troops reduced from the 1st Dns., and 2 tps. from Col. Jno. Berkeley's Dns., after Monmouth's rebellion was crushed.

<sup>1</sup> The sixth Duke. Known in history as the "proud" duke. He lost his regt. by refusing to introduce the nuncio of Pope Innocent XI. to his audience at Windsor, 3 July 1687. This gave mortal offence to Jas. II., who deprived the duke of his regt., and his post at Court.

<sup>2</sup> The proper spelling of this name is Canan, or Cannan, but historians invariably write this officer's name Cannon. See foot-note in P. Mc'Kerlie's Lands and their Owners in Galloway, III., p. 318. Commanded an Eng. regt. in the Dutch Service wh. came over to England in 1685. See Introduction. Succeeded the Duke of Somerset as Col. of this regt. Adhered to Jas. II. at the Revolution. Maj.-Gen. in Jacobite army. 2nd in comd. at Killecrankie. Served in Ireland. Is said to have died in France as an exile.

* M. E. B. I. Now known as the 4th Hussars. The tps. in above regt. were raised by their respective captns. at Wincanton, Shaftesbury, Shepton Mallet, Warminster and Ilchester. Two tps. were reduced soon after the embodiment of the regt., wh. recd. the title of "the Princess Anne of Denmark's Regt. of Dragoons."

<sup>6</sup> Is said to have d.s.p. in Ireland in 1690, when the Baronetcy became extinct.

<sup>9</sup> Son of Sir Oliver St. George, Vice-Adml. of Connaught. On 28 June 1686, Capt. O. St. George of above regt. received license from Jas. II. "to go into Hungary and there remain during the campaign." Mem. in M. E. B. I.

<sup>10</sup> This name occurs in no other list. He may possibly be the Cornet Kaghane of Col. Ric. Hamilton's Regt. of Dns., mentioned by the Earl of Clarendon, Lord-Lt. of Ireland, in a letter to the Earl of Sunderland, 30 Oct. 1686.

* Raised in England for the Irish Establishment, and sent to Ireland in the autumn of 1685. Frequently alluded to in the letters of Hy., Earl of Clarendon, Lord-Lient. of Ireland, 1686-7. Was one of the regts. brought over from Ireland in Nov. 1687, then under the comd. of Col. Jno. Butler. Disbanded, in England, by the Pr. of Orange, 6 Jan. 1689.

<sup>1</sup> 5th son of the Hon. Sir George Hamilton (of the Abercorn family), and brother to Col. Count Anthony Hamilton. Served many years in the French army. In great favour with Jas. II., who gave him the Coloneley of a regt. of Horse (now 5th Dn. Gds.) 15 Feb. 1687, and promoted him to be Maj.-Gen. 12 Nov. 1688. Lt.-Gen. in the Jacobite army at the Boyne, where he was taken prisoner. Confined in the Tower. When liberated, he returned to France, where he died.

<sup>6</sup> It is not improbable that this officer was aftds. the Col. Tho. Lloyd of Enniskillen fame, who was known in Irish history as "the little Cromwell," and who died in 1689.

* Ibid. There is a mem. in M. E. B. 1 to this effect: "Two blank commissions for a Capt. of a Volunteer Tp. of Horse to be forthwith raised for Our Service, dated 20 June 1685, were sent to the Earl of Abingdon."

<sup>1</sup> Maj. of Lord Brandon's Regt. of Horse 1st Oct. 1688. The notorious " Beau " Feilding, known in his time as a bully, a bigamist, a wife-beater, an heiress-hunter, and an arch libertine. Followed Jas. II. to Ireland in 1689, and sat in Parl. for Gowran. Eventually made his peace with Wm. III. and was allowed to return to England. His plan of securing a wealthy widow for his 3rd wife was defeated by a cleverly planned trick, and he was united to one Mary Wadsworth (5 Nov. 1705) who had neither money nor position. On 25 Nov. of same year he went through the form of marriage with Barbara, Duchess of Cleveland. Was convicted of bigamy and imprisoned. Styled " Colonel " and " Maj.-Genl." at his trial. D. 12 May 1712, aged 61.

<sup>2</sup> Made Capt.-Lt. in Visct. Lumley's Regt. of Horse in July 1685. Capt. in same regt. 25 Feb. 1687. One of the Herefordshire Cornewall's, and probably father of the Rt. Hon. Sir Chas. Cornwall, Vice-Adml. of the White.

<sup>15</sup> Raised this tp. at Hounslow. Incorporated in Lt. Peterboro's Regt. See Vol. I. p. 7, note. Col. of the Queen Dowager's Regt. of Horse 29 Jan. 1687 in room of Visct. Lumley.

<sup>16</sup> Only son of Col. Sr. Edwd. Griffin who was created Baron Griffin in 1688. Succeeded as 2nd Baron. Guidon and Maj. of 4th Tp. of Life Gds. 23 May 1686. Adhered to Jas. II. D. 31 Oct. 1715.

<sup>18</sup> This tp. was incorporated into Lord Peterboro's Regt. of Horse. 3rd son of Montague, Earl of Lindsey by his 1st wife. D. unm. in Dec. 1685.

<sup>19</sup> Raised this tp. near London. It was incorporated into Lord Peterboro's Regt. of Horse. Succeeded as 2nd Earl of Ailesbury, on the death of his father, 20 Oct. 1685. Was one of the first Peers to invite the Pr. of Orange to England, but refused to take the oath of allegiance to Wm. and Mary. Imprisoned in the Tower for alleged participation in Jacobite plots. Allowed to retire to Brussels. D. in Nov. 1741.

<sup>20</sup> 8th Earl of Pembroke and 5th Earl of Montgomery. Was appointed Commander of the six British regts. in the service of Holland in the autumn of 1685. (See Introduction). Was in great favour with Wm. III. who gave him the colonelcy of a newly raised regt. of Marines, 21 Jan. 1690. Lord High Adml. of Gt. Britain and Ireland in 1708-9. D. in Jan. 1733.

<sup>22</sup> Succeeded as 5th Baron Fairfax of Cameron in Apr. 1688. Col. of a regt. of Horse (now 3rd Hussars) 20 Jan. 1693-4. M.P. for Co. York until the Union, when he ceased to be a Commoner in England. D. 1710.

<sup>25</sup> Eldest son of Hy., 1st Duke of Beaufort. Resigned the comd. of his troop in Oct. 1685, in favour of Lord Arthm. Somerset, his brother. On 26 Oct. 1685 this same tp. was incorporated into Sr. Jno. Lanier's Regt. of Horse. Lord Worcester predeceased his father 13 July 1698. His death was caused by jumping from his coach "to avoid the dauber he was exposed to by the unruliness of the horses running down a steep hill with him." Ellis Correspondence.

<sup>28</sup> Of Stanhope Hall, Durham. This tp. was raised at Durham and incorporated, after Sedgemoor, into the Earl of Arran's Regt. of Cuirassiers. Major of Col. ## CHIRURGEON.

† Fras. Beaulieu.

<sup>1</sup> The War Office Comm. Bk. gives, under date of 10 Feb. 168<sup>½</sup>, the comm. entry of "Geo., Earl of Dumbarton, to be Col. of the Rl. Regt. of Foot." This is manifestly a false entry, as a mem. appears in D.E.B. 69, under above date, that there was "no comm. for Col. of this regt.," and it is specially noted in same MS. vol. that "Lord Dumbarton's comm. as Col. was signed the beginning of Augt. 1685." This nobleman's well-known Roman Catholic bias had prevented him subscribing to the Test Act, and so he was disqualified from holding a military command. He was, however, on the outbreak of the Monmouth Rebellion sent as C. in C. to Scotland, and he crushed the Earl of Argyle's ill-planned insurrection. On his return to England he was made a Lt.-Gen. and re-appointed Col. of the Royals by his Royal master, who openly set aside the laws of England. At the Revolution, Dumbarton followed his master to France, where he d. in 1692. See Vol. I. p. 63, note.

<sup>6</sup> Left the regt. 10 Nov. 1686. Called "Knt." in one comm. but does not appear in Le Neve's Knights. A James Murray was kntd. by Charles I. in 1643.

<sup>7</sup> See Vol. I., p. 319, note. Served throughout the Irish campaign under Wm. III., and distinguished himself at Steinkirk in 1692, where he comded. the Rl. Fusiliers. For his services in Flanders he was created Earl of Orkney, and was appointed Col. of both battns. of the Royals. Served as Lt.-Gen. under Marlborough in the wars of Queen Anne. K.T. Member of the Privy Council. Gov. of Edinburgh Castle. Premier Field-Marshal of England and representative peer of Scotland. D. in Jan. 1737.

<sup>8</sup> Reed. 40*l.* for wounds at Sedgemoor. Appointed Lt.-Col. of Col. Wm. Beveridge's Regt. of Foot (now 14th Regt.), 1 Jan. 1690. Youngest son of Sr. Jno. Moncrieff, Bt., and eventually succeeded as 4th Bt.

<sup>13</sup> Capt. in same regt. 8 April 1687. Adhered to Jas. II. at the Revolution, and followed him to St. Germains. One of the Scots of Harden and kinsman to the Duchess of Monmouth. Was on guard in the Tower when the unfortunate Monmouth wrote his last appeal for mercy to Jas. II. and was specially asked by the Duke to deliver the letter into the King's own hands. See Roberts's Life of Monmouth, II., p. 136.

<sup>19</sup> Noted in the War Office Comu. Bk. as the Hon. Geo. Murray. He was younger son, by his 4th mge., of Pat., 1st Baron Elibank. Quitted the regt. 1 May 1688. Lt.-Col. of the Scots' Tp. of Life Gds. See Douglas's Peerage of Scotland.

<sup>23</sup> Reed. 20*l.* for wounds at Sedgemoor. Recommissioned as eapt. 31 Dec. 1688. In some lists his name is erroneously given as Drury.

* Ibid. This regt. (now 2nd Foot) served at Sedgemoor and was ordered to escort the judges in their circuit, which is known in history as the "Bloody Assizes."

<sup>1</sup> See his various comms. in Vol. I. and notes thereto. Much of the odium which attaches itself to Judge Jeffreys has fallen on Col. Kirke's shoulders, who, though doubtless a rough and brutal soldier of Fortune, was not the bloodthirsty fiend that some writers have depicted him. Brig.-Gen. 4 July 1685. One of the first officers to go over to the Pr. of Orange, who made him a maj.-gen. Commanded a body of troops sent to the relief of Londonderry in May 1689, and was successful in this enterprise. Fought at the Boyne. Lt.-Gen. 24 Dec. 1690. D. at Breda, when on active service in Flanders, 31 Dec. 1691.

<sup>4</sup> Served over 20 years in this regt. D. or quitted the service 15 Mch. 1687.

<sup>6</sup> Served over 20 years in this regt. See list of the regt. for Nov. 1687.

* Ibid. Raised as an "Ordnance" Regt. on the outbreak of the Monmouth Rebellion. Now ranks as the "Seventh" Regt. of Ft.

<sup>5</sup> Appointed Lt.-Col. of this regt. on the accession of Wm. III., and was killed at the battle of Landen in 1693. His real name was Whalley.

<sup>6</sup> See his various comms. in Vol. I. and notes thereto. Ktd. 20 Meh. 1686. Succeeded Sr. Bernard de Gomme as Chief Engineer 30 Nov. 1685. Changed sides at the Revolution. Col. of a train of Artillery to go with the Fleet 1692 and 1694. See mention of him in Col. Dunecan's Hist. of the R. Artillery, where his devotion to his duties as Chief Engineer of England is termed—"The zeal and keenness of a renegade."

* Ibid. The present 8th, or King's, Regt. of Ft. Served in Ireland under Wm. III. and was present at the taking of Kinsale.

<sup>1</sup> Younger son of Sr. Robt. Shirley, Bart. The ancient title of Baron Ferrers of Chartley, wh. had long been in abeyance, was granted to the above by Chas. II. 14 Dec. 1677. Helped to raise a regt. of Ft. on the outbreak of the Monmouth Rebellion, and was appointed Col. thereof. On 1 Nov. 1688 was superseded in the command by Jas., Duke of Berwick. Raised to an earldom by Wm. III. D. 25 Dec. 1717.

<sup>8</sup> Appointed capt. in Col. Solomon Richards's Regt. of Ft. 31 Dee. 1688. One of the six famous "Portsmouth Captains." See list of this regt. for 1687.

* From an imperfect list in M. E. B. 1. This regt. is now the 10th, or Lincolnshire, Regt. of Ft. The regt. was to consist of 12 companies, but only ten appear to have been raised in 1685. An additional cy. was added 17 Mch. 1686.

<sup>1</sup> See his various comns. in Vol. I. Was removed from the comd. of this regt. by Jas. II. 8 Dec. 1688. His anxiety to be on the winning side at the Revolution lost him the confidence of the two masters he pretended to serve, and, tho' reinstated in the colonelcy of above regt. on the abdication of James, he only retained the comd. of Plymouth Garrison until 1691. Quitted the service 29 Octr. 1693. D. in August 1701.

<sup>2</sup> K.B. and Bart. Of Marston, Co. Devon. Nearly allied to the Earl of Bath. Quitted the regt. 1 Augt. 1687. Lt.-Gov. of Plymouth 1 May 1690. Graudson of the famous Royalist of same name slain at the siege of Bristol, and immortalised in the lines :—

“ The four wheels of Charles's wain
“ Granville, Godolphin, Trevanion, Slanning, slain.”

<sup>3</sup> Promoted Lt.-Col. 1 Aug. 1687. Kted. previous to that date. Appointed Col. of this regt. by James II. 8 Dec. 1688, but was removed by the Pr. of Orange the same month, and not again employed.

<sup>6</sup> Eldest son of Bernard Granville and grandson of the famous Sr. Bevil Granville. Kted. by Jas. II. Promoted maj. 1 Aug. 1687. Col. of above regt. 29 Oct. 1693. Gov. of Barbadoes 1702. Maj.-Gen. 1 Jan. 1704. D. in Sept. 1706 on his passage home from the West Indies.

<sup>7</sup> Adhered to Jas. II. at the Revolution. An officer of this name was attainted in Ireland in 1691.

<sup>9</sup> Had previously served as lt. of an independent cy. at Plymouth. This officer's comn. in above regt. was evidently cancelled, and he was transferred to the Earl of Huntingdon's regt. of Ft. as major. See list of that regt.

<sup>11</sup> & <sup>12</sup> These two officers appear in no other list, and it may be taken for granted that their comns. were cancelled and that their companies were never formed. See the comn. of Sidney Godolphin as capt. in this regt. vice Vivian, under date of 24 Feb. 1686.

* Ibid. Now ranks as the 13th, or Somersetshire Light Infantry.<sup>1</sup> 7th Earl. Captain of the Band of Gentlemen Pensioners. Adhered to Jas. II. at the Revolution, and being in garrison at Plymouth with his regiment, was arrested, with other Jacobite officers, by order of the Earl of Bath, Gov. of the town. Was excluded from the benefits of the Act of Indemnity passed on 23 May 1690, and in 1692 was sent a prisoner to the Tower, but was soon released. D. 30 May 1701.<sup>2</sup> Quitted the regt. 21 Apr. 1686. An officer of this name was Lieut. of the Band of Gentlemen Pensioners at the Coronation of Jas. II., and is noted in Chester's Westr. Abbey Registers as being 2nd son of the 4th Visct. Grandison, and as having died 1 Feb. 1694.<sup>3</sup> See list of the Earl of Bath's regt. of Ft., where his name occurs as capt. of a cy. D. or quitted the regt. 28 Jan. 1687.<sup>4</sup> Quitted the regt. 4 Nov. 1688. Eldest son of Sr. Beaumont Dixie, Bt. Succeeded as 3rd Bt. in 1692. D. in 1731.<sup>5</sup> See Vol. I., p. 80, note. This officer's original comm. as capt. in above regt. is among the Add. MSS. at Brit. Mus. Quitted the regt. 25 May 1686.<sup>6</sup> One of the Gentlemen Pensioners at the Coronation of Jas. II. Appointed Col. of a regt. of Ft. (now 14th Ft.) 14 Nov. 1692. D. as Maj.-Gen. in 1713.<sup>7</sup> Quitted the regt. 12 June 1686. Probably eldest son of Sr. Tho. Skipwith, of Metheringham, Co. Lincoln, Bt., who succeeded as 2nd Bt., and d. in 1710.<sup>8</sup> Quitted the regt. 1 Aug. 1687.<sup>9</sup> Out of the regt. after Dec. 1688. There were several officers of this surname in Jas. II.'s Irish Army.<sup>10</sup> Appointed Maj. of the Rl. Dns. 18 Oct. 1685. This officer remained faithful to Jas. II. when the Col. (Visct. Cornbury) attempted to take the whole regt. over to the Pr. of Orange from Salisbury, in Nov. 1688, and marched the greater part of the regt. back to Salisbury. For this act of loyalty Clifford was appointed Col. of the Dns., but was removed from the comd. 31 Dec. 1688. Commd. a regt. of Dns. in Ireland in Jas. II.'s Army. His loyalty in this latter service was of a very questionable character. See D'Alton's Irish Army Lists, I., pp. 402-405.

* Ibid and W. O. Comn. Bk. Now ranks as the 14th, or Buckinghamshire, Regt. of Ft.

<sup>1</sup> 3rd Bt., of Woodchurch, in Kent. Was a Roman Catholic, and much in favour with Jas. II. In 1686 an action was brought against him by his coachman for not having taken the oaths required by the Test Act of Chas. II. three months after being appointed col. of a regt. Convicted at the Rochester Assizes, but his appeal in the Court of King's Bench against this verdict resulted, through the corruption of the judges, in his being acquitted. Made Lt. of Dover Castle, and subsequently Lt. of the Tower. Was with Jas. II. when the latter attempted to escape to France from Faversham in Dec. 1688, and was brought back to London. Confined a year and a half in the Tower. On being released, he joined Jas. II. in France, and was created Earl of Tenterden. D. in France in 1695, and was bd. in the church of St. Sulpice, in Paris.

<sup>2</sup> See Vol. I., p. 331, under Capt. Phil. Kirke's conn., where it is wrongly stated that this officer d. in Nov. 1684. Held the lt.-colonelcy in above regt. until 3 Oct. 1686, when his name disappears altogether from the Comn. Entry Books. He was 8th son of Sr. Mat. Boynton, Knt. and Bt., of Burton Agnes, Co. York. Bn. in 1632. Date of death not given in the Boynton pedigree.

<sup>7</sup> One of this name appears in Chester's London Mge. Licenses under date of 10 Sept. 1672, then aged 25. Adhered to Jas. II., and held the rank of major in Lord Kilmallock's regt. of Ft. in Ireland. Taken prisoner at Aughrim. D'Alton, II., p. 437.

<sup>10</sup> Transferred to the Rl. Fusiliers as capt. of a cy. Mem. in W. O. Comn. Bk., 1237.

* Disbanded after Steinkirk, where the regt. was very nearly decimated. See note to this regt. on p. 9. At the Revolution the regt. was nominally commanded by Chas., Duke of St. Albans (natural son of Chas. II. by Nell Gwynn), but in the absence of the duke, in Hungary, the command devolved on Lt. Col. Tho. Langston, who treacherously took the whole regt. over, from Salisbury, to the Prince of Orange's camp, at Honiton, in Nov. 1688. To the everlasting credit of the troopers of this regt., most of them made their way back to the King's army when they found they had been betrayed. A contemporary tract says that only two officers of this regt. (a lt. and a quarter-master) and thirteen troopers belonged to the Roman Catholic religion.

* Ibid. At the Revolution, this regt. consisted of 2 battalions of 12 companies each, and a grendry, to each battn. in addition. One of the last regts. to submit to Wm. III. See Introduction.

* Ibid. Now the 8th or the King's (Liverpool) Regt. In Sept. 1688 this regt. was quartered at Portsmouth, where the Duke of Berwick was governor. The king, intent on modelling his army in England in such a manner as would best serve his own individual interests, resolved to leaven his English regiments with Irish Roman Catholic recruits. To this end he ordered five Irishmen to be put into each company of the Duke of Berwick's regt. But Beaumont (the Lt.-Col.) and five of his captains, viz., Tho. Paston, Simon Packe, Tho. Orme, Jno. Port, and Wm. Cook, refused to receive them, "alleging they were raw, undisciplined Irishmen, and that if the regt. was to be recruited with raw men, they had all of them credit enough to raise Englishmen; and all of them signed a paper to that effect." (Ellis Correspondence, II., p. 184). This remonstrance made no impression on the king, who was determined to carry out his remodelling scheme, and orders were sent to the Duke of Berwick to see the Royal wishes carried out. Beaumont and the five malcontent captains thereupon desired leave to lay down their commissions. "The king was provoked by this to such a degree," says Bishop Burnet, "that he could not govern his passion. The officers were put in arrest, and brought before a council of war, where they were broken with reproach, and declared incapable to serve the King any more." (Burnet's Hist. of Jas. II. p. 236). No further attempt, however, was made to leaven British regts. with Roman Catholic recruits from Ireland.

<sup>1</sup> Appointed Col. of the Rl. Regt. of Horse Gds. 4 Feb. 1688. On Lord Churchill's desertion to the Pr. of Orange, in Nov. 1688, Jas. II. gave the comd. of the 3rd Tp. of Life Gds. to his son the Duke of Berwick. This latter coun. is not forthcoming. Accompanied his father in his flight to France. Distinguished himself in the Irish campaign of 1690. Entered the service of Louis XIV., and eventually won a marshal's baton. Killed at the siege of Philipsburg in 1734.

* W.O.Bk. 1258. A duplicate MS. List of this regt. (minus the dates of comms.) appears in Harl. 4847, and is bound up with King James's Army List for Nov. 1687, altho' written in a different hand, and on different paper, to the latter Army List. Col. Hales's Regt. was chiefly officered by Roman Catholics and Protestants who had left the British regts. in the service of the States of the United Provinces to serve their lawful King at home. (See Introduction). This regt., wh. was in the pay of Louis XIV. until Nov. 1688, was disbanded about 1697.

<sup>1</sup> Served many years in an Eng. regt. in Holland (now 5th Foot) and was wounded at the battle of St. Denis, 14 Aug. 1678, where he had the rank of major. (Cannon's Records of the 5th Fusiliers). Retained the colonelcy of above regt. until 26 Sept. 1692. Was made Govr. of Chelsea Hospital 11 Nov. 1702 and d. 31 Mch. 1726, aged 74. See Notes and Queries, 2nd series, Vol. VI1., p. 150.

<sup>8</sup> From eapt. in Col. Tollmache's Regt. of Ft. in the Dutch service. Was removed, or left the regt. on the accession of the Pr. of Orange.

<sup>9</sup> From eapt. in Col. Tollmache's Regt. of Ft. in the Dutch service. There were two officers of this name in the army in 1688. One of them was appointed brigade-major, in Holland, in 1694.

<sup>11</sup> <sup>12</sup> and <sup>13</sup> These 3 names do not appear in any subsequent Lists.

<sup>15</sup> Promoted capt. 4 Nov. 1689. In the MS. Army List for 1702, he appears as senior capt. in Brigdr. Farrington's Regt. of Ft.

* W.O.Bk. 1258, and D.E.B. 69. A duplicate MS. List of this regt. (minus the dates of comms.) appears in Harl. 4,847. Col. Wachop's Regt. was chiefly officered by Roman Catholics who had left the British regts. in the service of the States of the United Provinces to serve their lawful King at home. (See Introduction). This Scotch regt., wh. was in the pay of Louis XIV. until Nov. 1688, was disbanded about 1697.

<sup>1</sup> From col. of a regt. in the Scots Brigade, in the Dutch service. Adhered to Jas. II. This officer is the identical Maj.-Gen. Jno. Wachope, who greatly distinguished himself in the Irish campaign of 1689-91, and aftds. fought with the Irish contingent in Catalonia under the Marshal Duke de Noailles. Killed at the battle of Marsaglia. See D'Alton's Irish Army List, II., pp. 793-5.

<sup>2</sup> From capt. in Maj.-Gen. Hugh Mackay's regt., in the Scots Brigade, in the Dutch service. Lt.-Col. of Col. Wachop's Regt. of Ft. 20 Aug. 1688. Killed at Walcourt village, in Flanders, in an engagement with the Luxemburgers, 25 Aug. 1689. Cannon's Records of the 16th Foot.

<sup>3</sup> From capt. in Maj.-Gen. Hugh Mackay's regt., in the Scots Brigade, in the Dutch service. A certain Capt. Jno. Gordon fought in Jas. II.'s Army in Ireland. D'Alton, II., p. 717.

<sup>4</sup> From capt. in Col. Barthold Balfour's regt., in the Scots Brigade, in the Dutch service. Adhered to Jas. II.

<sup>5</sup> From capt. in Maj.-Gen. Hugh Mackay's regt., in the Scots Brigade, in the Dutch service. See notice of this gallant officer in the notes to Gen. Hugh Mackay's regt., in the Scots Brigade, in Part II. of this Vol.

<sup>6</sup> Balfour. From capt. in Col. Balfour's regt., in the Scots Brigade, in the Dutch service. (See register of comms. on the Dutch Establishment for 1688 in Pt. II. of this Vol.) Was appointed capt. in Sr. Thos. Livingstone's Regt. of Dragoons (now Scots Greys) 1 Mech. 1689. 3rd son of John, 3rd Lord Balfour of Burleigh. See Burke's Extinct Peerage

<sup>7</sup> From capt. in Col. Jno. Wachop's late regt., in the Scots Brigade, in the Dutch service. Probably the George Hamilton appointed col. of a regt. of ft. in Ireland, in 1690, which was aftds. disbanded.

<sup>8</sup> From capt. in Col. Jno. Wachop's late regt., in the Scots Brigade, in the Dutch service. Major of Sr. David Colyear's Regt. of Ft. 1 Sept. 1689. Lt.-Col. of Col. Robt. Mackay's regt. (now 21st Scots Fusillers) 29 May 1695. Killed at Blenheim when in comd. of his regt. He was 3rd son of the famous Genl. Thos. Dalyell of Binns, and md. Christian, dau. of Jno. Ellies of Ellieston, N.B., by whom he left issue.

<sup>9</sup> Son of Sr. Geo. Johnston, Bt., by a dau. of Sr. Wm. Leslie, Bt. Is said to have served in Flanders and to have fought at the Boyne. For his share in helping his friend Capt. the Hon. Jas Campbell (brother to Lord Argyll) to carry off the great heiress, Miss Mary Wharton (related to Lord Wharton), with whom Campbell went through a form of marriage, Johnston was tried at the Old Bailey, condemned, and executed at Tyburn 20 Dec. 1690. See Burke's Peerage and Evelyn's Diary, II., p. 310.

<sup>11</sup> Adhered to Jas. II. Was appointed Lt.-col. of Lord Iveagh's Regt. of Ft. in James's Irish Army by Lord Tyrconnell. Served all through the campaign in Ireland, and aftds. fought in the Irish Brigade in the service of France. See D'Alton's Irish Army List, II., p. 733.

<sup>12</sup> Does not appear in any subsequent List. One of this name was 2nd son of Jno. Hatcher of Careby, Co. Lincoln. Bn. 1664. (See Blore's Hist. of Rutlandshire, p. 134.) Capt. H.'s comm. was probably cancelled, and Hy. Cunningham appded. capt. in his place.

<sup>14</sup> Erskine. Probably of the same family as Hy. Erskine, Lord Cardross, who served in Col. Wachop's regt., in the Scots Brigade, in the Dutch service. D. or left the regt. in Aug. 1688, when Arch. Carr was appointed capt.-lt. Patrick Erskine appears as lt. in above regt. in 1689.

* W.O.Bk. 1258. There is a duplicate MS. List of this regt. (minus the dates of comms.) in Harl. 4847. This Irish regt., wh. was almost entirely composed of Roman Catholic officers and men, was in the pay of Louis XIV, until Nov. 1688. Most of the captains, and some of the subalterns, had served in the English Brigade in Holland, and had voluntarily thrown up their comms. to serve their lawful King at home. (See Introduction.) The regt. was broke 8 Jan. 1689.

<sup>1</sup> From Lt.-col. in the Earl of Pembroke's Kegt. in the English Brigade in the service of Holland. Came to Engiaud with his regt., from Ireland, at the Revolution, and was quartered at Portsmouth. Adhered to Jas. II., who made him col. of a regt. of ft. and Govr. of Cork. Held that post when Marlborough besieged and took Cork in Sept. 1690. Was taken prisoner and sent to the Tower, where he was confined for nearly eight years. In June 1697 was exchanged and permitted to go over to France, where he was appointed col. of the regt. of Clancarty. See D'Alton's Irish Army List, II., p. 739.

<sup>2</sup> From major in Sr. Hy. Bellasyse's Regt. in the English Brigade in the service of Holland. In the Dutch register he is called "Dionieus Macillicuddy," but his real name appears to have been Dennis Mac Gillicuddy. Was atds. col. of a regt. of foot in James's Irish Army (D'Alton, II., p. 764). He was grandson of Connor Mae Gillicuddy, of Castle-carrick, Kerry (who was shipwrecked and drowned in 1630), and married Margaret Von Dachelaer, a Dutch lady. Burke's Landed Gentry.

<sup>3</sup> From major in the Earl of Pembroke's Regt. in the English Brigade in the Dutch service. In 1689 was appointed lt.-col. of an infantry regt. in James's Irish Army. Returned to France at the close of the Irish campaign. Killed at the siege of Verona, in 1704, by the explosion of a bomb. D'Alton, II., p. 516.

<sup>5</sup> Appointed maj. to the Earl of Salisbury's Regt. of Horse 15 Nov. 1688. In latter comm. his name is given as O'Haugherne.

<sup>7</sup> and <sup>13</sup> Apparently father and son. Untraced among the many of this name who adhered to Jas. II.

<sup>9</sup> Major of the Duke of Newcastle's Regt. of Ft., 29 Oct. 1688, after which date nothing further is known of him.

<sup>14</sup> Probably son of Major Mae Gillicuddy of this regt. Promoted capt. in same regt. 20 Oct. 1688. See his comm. under latter date where his name is correctly spelt.

* From an imperfect list in W. O. Bk. 1258. This regt. was disbanded in Jan. 1689. It was almost entirely composed of Roman Catholics. From a letter in the Dartmouth Papers from Peter Shakerley, Gov. of Chester, to the Ordnance Dept., dated Jan. 28, 1689-90, it appears that the rabble at Chester had possessed themselves of the arms taken from Col. Gage's regt. which was quartered in that city in Dec. 1688.

<sup>1</sup> Little or no mention is made of this officer in history. He was probably the 4th son of Sr. Edwd. Gage, Bt., by his 4th wife, and brother to Basilia Gage, who was Maid of Honour to Mary Beatrice, Queen of Jas. II.

<sup>2</sup> The Hon. Wm. Molyneux, aftds. 4th Viset. M., who d. in 1717. In the Preston Papers is a letter dated 4 Dec. 1688, wh. appears to refer to the above regt.:—"Lord Molinox (sic) came into Chester this day sennight with his regt. of Papists, which made a stranger confusion than was in all the last wars."—Hist. MSS. Comm. 7th Report.

<sup>3</sup> From capt. in Col. Balfour's Regt. of Ft. in the service of the Scots' Bde. in Holland. See list of this latter regt. in Part II. where the name is given as "Ferdinand" Cunningham, but as "Frederick" in the Dutch Commission Registers.

<sup>4</sup> Of Newbury in Essex. Succeeded his bro., Sr. Wm. S., Bt., as 2nd Bt. and d. s. p. 11 May 1725, when the title became extinct. Burke's Extinct Baronetage.

CHIRURGEON.
Alex. Griffith,
1 Oct.

* W. O. Bk. 1258. This regt. was broke 4 Jan. 1689.

<sup>5</sup> This officer's comm. does not appear in the Comm. Entry Books, but Jno. Shales's comm. gives: "to be lt. to Capt. Tho. Orby." He was son and heir of Col. Chas. Orby of the Life Gds. (2nd Bt. of Croyland Abbey), and md. a dau. of Lord Gerard of Brandon. Succeeded as 3rd Bt. and d. in 1724. Both Capt. Tho. Orby and Lt. Jno. Shales were officers in the R. Fusiliers.

* D. E. B. 69 and W. O. Bk. 1258. Several of these Tps. of Horse were incorporated into Regts. of Cavalry raised by Jas. II., but the officers thus incorporated do not appear to have received fresh commissions.

<sup>1</sup> According to Sr. J. Bernard Burke, the Hon. Edwd. Widdrington, Capt. of Dns., 2nd son of 1st Baron W., was killed at the battle of the Boyne, but his name does not appear either in King James's Irish Army Lists or in the Conn. Bks. of the English army for 1690.

<sup>2</sup> This nobleman's name ought to be John. Jno. Calvert, 3rd Baron Baltimore, is said to have been present in King James's Irish Parliament in 1689. He d. in 1694, and was succeeded by his son Charles as 4th Baron. Collins's Peerage of Ireland, Vol. II.

<sup>6</sup> 3rd Bt. of Stockerston, Leicestershire, who d. in 1705. His father was a distingd. Royalist, and suffered both sequestration and imprisonment. This tp. was broke 4 Jan. 1689.

* W. O. Bk. 1258; D. E. B. 69. Many of these companies were incorporated into the Regts. of Ft. raised by Jas. II. in 1688, but the officers thus incorporated do not appear to have received fresh commissions.

<sup>1</sup> This ey. was added to Col. Cornwall's Regt. of Ft. 14th Oct. 1688. Arnold had previously served as ens. in the Queen's Regt. of Ft.

<sup>2</sup> From 1st Lt. of Grendr. Cy. in the Queen's Regt. of Ft. Capt. of the King's Cy. in 1st Ft. Gds., with rank of Lt.-Col. 14 Dec. 1693. Was mortally wounded on July 18, 1695, in an attack upon the French lines before Namur. There is a tablet to this officer's widow (who was a dau. of Sr. Jonathan Trelawny, Bt.) in Winchester Cathedral, and the following lines inscribed thereon record how her gallant husband met his death:—" Lt.-Col. Davies, mounting the trenches at the head of the grenadiers of the 1st Regt. of Gds., was the first that threw the fascines over the ditch, and with his men passed it, beating the French out of their works, which was a gallant action, and greatly contributed towards the taking of the town, in performing of which he died, and gained so just an esteem for the boldness and success of it with the King, that he designed him the great honour of a visit the morning on which he died, and being informed of his death, in kind and honourable terms expressed his concern and sorrow for the loss of so brave and deserving an officer." Quoted in Hamilton's Hist. of the Grenadiers, I. p. 396.

<sup>3</sup> There was a Capt. Anthony in Col. Chas. Moore's Regt. of Ft. in King James's Irish army in 1689, but his Christian name does not appear.

<sup>4</sup> This officer's comm. is not forthcoming, but the commis. of the two subalterns of this cy. state that they were in Capt. Chas. Collier's Indep. Cy.

<sup>7</sup> Implicated in the Jacobite conspiracy of 1696, and a reward of 1,000*l.* was offered for his apprehension. See Introduction.

<sup>11</sup> Appointed capt. in Sr. Geo. St. George's Regt. of Ft. (late Col. Richards's) 10 May 1689. Served as lt. in the Rl. Regt. of Ft. Gds. in Ireland, but was one of the Protestant officers removed from that regt. in 1688. See "List of officers turned out of Ireland" in Add. MS. 28,938, fo. 314.

<sup>12</sup> This cy. was struck off the Effective List of the army 31 Dec. 1688 (Add. MS. 16,123, fo. 3). Wounded and taken prisoner at the battle of Aughrim. See "List of the considerable Irish officers killed and taken at Aughrim 12 July 1691," in D'Alton's Irish Army Lists, II. p. 784. Is called "Major Edmund Braughall" in the aforesaid List.

<sup>13</sup> Probably a cadet of the Roman Catholic family of this name, long settled in Hants, but not named in the pedigree of this family given in the Herald and Genealogist, III. p. 519.

<sup>14</sup> Appointed capt. in the Duke of Norfolk's Regt. of Ft., wh. was raised 8 Meh. 1689, and now ranks as the 22nd or Cheshire Regt.

<sup>15</sup> Probably Capt. "Joslin" Mead, who was appointed Capt. in the Earl of Donegal's Regt. of Ft. 1 Meh. 1702.

<sup>1</sup> 2nd son of Sr. Hy. S., Bt., who was beheaded on Tower Hill 8 June 1658. See his various comms. in Vol. I. There are one or two of his letters in the Dartmouth Papers, and it appears from one to Lord Dartmouth, dated 25 Oct. 1683, that Lord Feversham was anxious for him to apply for a troop of dragoons in a regt. about to be formed, but Slingsby declared his unwillingness to do this "because Lord Churchill is to command them." Hist. MSS. Comm., 11th Report, Appx. Pt. V., p. 99.<sup>2</sup> Nephew to the above. See his comm., dated 25 Feb. 1688, as capt.-lt. in the Rl. Regt. of H. Gds. and note thereto.<sup>3</sup> From adjt. in the Rl. Regt. of Dns. Capt. of a tp. wh. was raised and added to the Earl of Essex's Regt. of Dns. 16 Feb. 1694.<sup>4</sup> Implicated in Sr. Geo. Barclay's assassination plot, 1696, and one of the Jacobite conspirators for whose apprehension 1,000*l.* reward was offered by the Eng. Govt. See Introduction.<sup>5</sup> 3rd son of the 1st Earl of Derwentwater. D. unm., and was bd. 16 Oct. 1704 with his ancestors in the family vault at Dilston, co. Northumberland. This tp. was raised as an Indep. Tp. of Horse 29 Sept. 1688, and the comms. of the capt., lt., and cornet bear that date.<sup>6</sup> Probably son to Col. Slingsby.<sup>7</sup> Major in Col. Simon Luttrell's Regt. of Dns. in King James's Irish army in 1689. His name is given as Moclare. D'Alton, I., p. 388.<sup>8</sup> See List of Indep. Tps. of Horse where this officer is given as lt. to Capt. Edwd. Widdrington's Tp. (?)<sup>9</sup> Son of Jno. Cæsar of Hyde Hall, Herts, by a dau. of Sr. Tho. Slingsby, Bt., Govr. of Searbro' Castle. Is said to have d. in Ireland as a Major. Burke's Commoners, II., p. 19.<sup>10</sup> 2nd son of Fras. Cholmley of Brandsby, co. York. Bn. in 1667. D. in 1740. Burke's Landed Gentry.<sup>11</sup> His comm. gives: "to be Qr.-Mr. to Capt. Fras. Radcliffe in Col. Slingsby's Regt. of Horse," and was signed by Col. Slingsby. W. O. Bk. 1258.<sup>12</sup> Chaplain to the Queen's Regt. of Dns. (now 3rd Hussars) 8 May 1702.

* From an imperfect List in W. O. Bk. 1258. This regt., wh. consisted of 13 companies, was bestowed by the Pr. of Orange on Capt. Edwd. Fitz-Patrick, from the Holland Regt. of Ft. It was disbanded after the Peace of Ryswick.

<sup>1</sup> See memoir of this officer in Vol. I., p. 71. Sent envoy to Paris in 1688, but "by meddling with what he had no instructions for, and by exceeding his commission" (Ellis Correspondence, II., p. 199) he incurred King James's displeasure, and on his return to England, in Sept. 1688, he was sent prisoner to the Tower. His incarceration was short. "Skelton, having been 18 days in the Tower, was set at liberty and a regt. of ft. given to him." (Boyer's Hist. of Wm. III.) Surrendered his comms. on 10 Dec. 1688. Bp. Burnet says of Skelton: "He was the haughtiest, but withal the weakest man." He followed King James to France, and, according to Narcissus Luttrell's Diary, became a professed Roman Catholic, tho' he had previously been a Protestant.

* W. O. Bk. 1258. This regt., wh. appears to have consisted of 14 companies, was raised in Wales, and was exclusively Welsh. It is doubtful whether the full complement of the regt. was raised, as, on 6 Nov. 1688, Visct. Preston (Secy. of State) wrote to the Duke of Beaufort to the effect that Col. Carne was not to proceed with his levies until His Majesty's further pleasure be known. Hist. MSS. Comm., 7th Report, Pt. I. The regt. was disbanded in Jan. 1689.

<sup>1</sup> Of Corntown, co. Glamorgan. 2nd son of Wm. C., of Nash, in the same county. Md. Blanche, dau. and co-heir of Edwd. Carne, of Ewenny. He d. in 1692, aged 63, and was succeeded by his son Richard, Sheriff of Glamorgan, in 1708, whose only son, John, d. of a lingering consumption, aged 15, on 4 June 1700, and was bd. in Ewenny church, where is a stately monument, with the following inscription, to the last male of this branch of the family :—

“Here ly's Ewenny's hope, Ewenny's pride,
In him both flourish'd, and in him both dy'd,
Death haveing seis'd him, linger'd, loath to be
The ruine of this worthy family.”

<sup>7</sup> 4th son of Sr. Edwd. S., Bt., and brother-in-law to Col. Carne's elder bro., Tho. Carne, of Nash, co. Glamorgan.

* M. E. B. 2. This was a Roman Catholic regt., and it is very doubtful if the regt. was ever embodied at all. It is not included in the List of Jas. II.'s regts. to whom pay was granted, by the Pr. of Orange, in Dec. 1688 (see Add. M.S., 10123, fo. 3), nor is it mentioned in the List of regts. to whom quarters were assigned, 19 Dec. 1688. London Gazette, No. 2411.

<sup>1</sup> Eldest son of Sr. Wm. Howard, K.B. (created Baron and Visct. Stafford in 1640), who was beheaded in 1680, and his honours forfeited. Attainder reversed 3 June 1685 when his son, Hy. Howard, succeeded to the above titles, and was created Earl of Stafford 5 Oct. 1688. Adhered to Jas. II. and followed that monarch to France. Md., in 1694, Claude-Charlotte, eldest dau. of Philibert, Count de Grammont, by Eliz., dau. of Sr. Geo. Hamilton. The following extraordinary passage in Lord Stafford's will, dated 2 Feb. 1699-1700, is given by Col. Chester in his Westr. Abbey Registers, pp. 295-6:—"I give to the worst of women, except being a —, who is guilty of all ill, the daughter of Mr. Graumont, a Frenchman, who I have unfortunately married, five and forty brass halfpence which will by her a pullet to her supper, a greater sume than her father can often make her, for I have known when he had neither money nor credit for such a purchase, being the worst of men, and his wife the worst of women, in all debaucheries; had I known their character, I had never married their daughter, nor made myselfe unhappy." The Earl d.s.p. 27 Apl. 1719, aged 72, and was bd. in St. Edmund's Chapel, Westr. Abbey, 12 May following.

Bk.1258, | The date of this comm. is given as “20 Nov.” in the “Succession of Colonels” in the old Army Lists . The right date is doubtless the 29 Nov., as Lord Churchill’s Tp. of Life Gds. did not become vaient until the 25 Nov., which was the day Churchill deserted to the Pr. of Orange. The Duke of Berwick got Churchill’s Tp. and Lord Arran got the Rl. Regt. of Horse Gds.— |

* Extracted from the Muster-Rolls of this Tp. (1682-8), printed in Mr. Andrew Ross's Old Scottish Regimental Colours, p. 70. This tp., wh. was raised in Jan. 1661 at Edinburgh, became, after the Revolution, the Fourth Tp. of Life Gds. In Dee. 1746 the 3rd and 4th Tps. of Life Gds. were disbanded.

<sup>1</sup> Appointed 1 May 1684. Succeeded his father, in 1690, as 4th Earl of Linlithgow. It appears from a letter from Sr. Pat. Home of Polwarth to the Duke of Hamilton, dated 5 Sept. 1689, that Lord Livingstone, his brother-in-law, Lord Duffus, and his brother, the Earl of Calendar, "had been committed for complicity with the rebels." (Hist. MSS. Comm., 11th Report, Appx. Pt. VI.) D.s.p. 7 Aug. 1695.

<sup>3</sup> Wm. Erskine, 8th Earl. Adhered to Jas. II. and followed him to Ireland in 1689. Returning to Scotland he was committed prisoner to Stirling Castle, where he d. unm. in 1695.

* From Lists given in Old Scottish Regtal. Colours, p. 70. In 1685 several Independent Tps. of Horse were formed into a regt., and the command given to Graham of Claverhouse. On the accession of the Prince of Orange this regt. was struck off the establishment of the army.

<sup>2</sup> James Douglas, Earl of Drumlanrig. Eldest son of Wm., 1st Duke of Queensberry. Was one of the noble guests who supped with Jas. II. at Andover on the 24th Nov. 1688, and who, as soon as the king had gone to bed, rode off together to the Prince of Orange's camp. (Lord Clarendon's Diary, II., p. 93). Appointed Col. and Capt. of the Scots Tp. of Life Gds. 31 Dec. 1688. "In 1690 he commanded a separate body of troops against the Highlanders, who had taken arms in favour of the late king." (Cannon's Records of the Life Guards). Succeeded as 2nd Duke of Queensberry in 1695. Was subsequently Lord High Commissioner for Scotland. Created Duke of Dover in 1711, and d. the same year.

<sup>3</sup> Served previously as capt. in the Rl. Scots Regt. of Ft., from wh. he retired in Aug. 1686.

<sup>4</sup> Jas. Ogilvy, 2nd Earl of Airlie. Was taken prisoner at the battle of Philliphaugh, 13 Sept. 1645, and sentenced to death, "but escaped the very night before his execution in the attire of his sister." (Douglas's Peerage). Received pardon by Act of Parliament 7 June 1649. Accompanied King James to Salisbury in Nov. 1688. Commanded the detachment of his regt. in the cavalry skirmish at Reading on 9 Dec. 1688, in which the king's troops came off worst. (See Introduction). Adhered to Jas II. D. at an advanced age at the close of the 17th century.

<sup>5</sup> Of Craigie, co. Ayr. A bart. of Nova Scotia. Served under the Earl of Dumbarton in 1685 in helping to quell the Earl of Argyll's insurrection, and was wounded. Adhered to Jas. II., and suffered considerably in consequence. Commanded a tp. of horse at Killiecrankie. See note on p. 12 in Old Scottish Regimental Colours.

<sup>6</sup> Colin Lindsay, 3rd Earl. A personal friend of Jas. II. Was in the naval action of Solebay, 28 May 1672. (Douglas's Baronage of Scotland). Adhered to Jas. II. at the Revolution, and was imprisoned for four months in Edinburgh Castle, 1689. Retiring to the continent he remained there ten years, and was then permitted to return. Joined the standard of the Chevalier in 1715. Escaped the attainder of other Jacobite noblemen through the strenuous efforts of his friends, the Dukes of Argyll and Marlborough, and was included in the Act of Indemnity. D. in 1722.

<sup>10</sup> Eldest son of Sr. Hy. Bruce of Clackmanan. M. Lady Margt. Mackenzie, dau. of Geo., Earl of Cromarty, and d.s.p. Burke's Commoners, IV., p. 619.

<sup>11</sup> Younger bro. to Viset-Dundee. Succeeded as 3rd Viset. Was at the battle of Killiecrankie. Declared an outlaw in 1690. Retired to France in 1692 and was invested by King James with the Order of the Thistle. D.s.p. in 1700. Burke's Extinct Peerage.

<sup>13</sup> Of Balnagowan. Son of the 11th Baron Ross, who served some years as capt. in the Rl. Regt. of Horse. Made col. of dragoons, by brevet, 16 Feb. 1694. Appointed col. of the Rl. Irish Dns. 16 July 1695, wh. he commanded until 1706. Reappointed col. to the same regt. in 1729. D. as genl., at Bath, 5 Aug. 1732, and was bd. at Fearn in Ross-shire. Burke's Extinct Peerage.

CHIRURGEON.

Pat. Ainger.
Apl. 11, 1687.

* From Lists given in Old Scottish Regtal. Colours, p. 72. This regt. now ranks as the 2nd Dns., or Rl. Scots Greys. In 1678 three Indep. Tps. of Dns. were raised, and were, in 1681, incorporated with three additional tps. into the above regt.

<sup>1</sup> Appointed 6 Nov. 1685. Second son of John, 1st Marquis of Athole. Capt. of an Indep. Tp. of Dns. in 1678, wh. tp. was incorporated in the Rl. Scots Dns. in 1681, and Lord C. Murray was appointed Lt.-col. of the newly formed regt. Created Earl of Dunmore 16 Aug. 1686. Adhered to Jas. II. and was removed from the colonelcy by the Pr. of Orange. Imprisoned in 1692 for complicity with the Jacobites. Queen Anne appointed him Master of the Horse and Govr. of Blackness Castle. D. in 1710.

<sup>2</sup> No mention is made of this officer in Capt. Creichton's Memoirs, and it is doubtful if he accompanied the regt. to England in Sept. 1688, as Creichton mentions that Wm. Livingstone of Kilsyth, was Lt.-col. of the Scots Dns. in Dec. 1688? Col. Ratray had previously served in the Scots Gds., and was Lt. to Maj. Sr. Jas. Turner's cy. in 1663. See Memoirs of Sir Jas. Turner, published by the Banbury Club, p. 140.

<sup>3</sup> Of Cavers. Son and heir of Sr. Wm. D. of Cavers, Knt. Appointed Lt.-col. of the Scots Dns. 1 Apl. 1692. (See lists of Lt.-cols. of this regt. in the Hist. of the 2nd Dragoons, by Lt.-Col. Percy Groves). Held this appointment until Apl. 1694, when the regt. proceeded to Flanders. Was knted. before 1692. D.s.p. 1698.

<sup>4</sup> Referred to in Capt. Creichton's Memoirs as "Lord Kilsythe," and as being Lt.-col. of the Scots Dns. in Dec. 1688. The Hon. Wm. Livingstone, 2nd son of James, 1st Visct. Kilsyth, succeeded his

bro. as 3rd Visct. in 1706. In the spring of 1689 was detected in a traitorous design to carry over the whole regt. to Lord Dundee, then at the head of a strong Jacobite body of troops. Was imprisoned with several of his officers who were deprived of their commissions. Engaged in the rebellion of 1715, was attainted of high treason, his estate and honours forfeited. D. at Rome 12 Jan. 1733.

<sup>5</sup> Not given in any subsequent List of this regt., nor does his name appear in any of the Blair pedigrees in J. Paterson's History of the co. Ayr. May have been one of the Blairs of Balthayoek.

<sup>6</sup> Son of Robt. Blair of Bogtown, co. Ayr. Adhered to Jas. II. at the Revolution, and his tp. given to his lt. (John Creichton), whose Jacobite bias did not show itself for some months afterwards. In July 1689 Sir Adam B. was arrested and put in prison (Lord Melville to the Duke of Hamilton, 8 July 1689). Impeached for high treason by both Houses of Parliament. Made his escape in company with Dr. Gray, another Jacobite prisoner, but they were retaken in an open boat, off Dover, making for Calais (Luttrell). Eventually was allowed to retire to France, where he fell foul of his own party and was committed to the Bastile. (Luttrell's Relation of State Affairs, under date of 3 Oct. 1702.) Was cousin to Wm. Blair of Blair, who espoused Wm. III.'s side and raised a tp. of horse in Scotland. The latter was taken prisoner by Dundee, and after being paraded all over the country by that relentless comr., was sent prisoner to Mull, where he died, in a few weeks, from exhaustion.

<sup>7</sup> Adhered to Jas. II. Referred to in Genl. H. Mackay's Memoirs, published by the Bannatyne Club, p. 39.

<sup>9</sup> Promoted capt. in Dec. 1688. Joined in Lt.-Col. Wm. Livingstone's conspiracy to take the regt. over to Lord Dundee in the spring of 1689. Was imprisoned and deprived of his comm. (Creichton's Memoirs). Mentioned in Strickland's Lives of the Queens of England as being at the Court of St. Germains in Jan. 1702, when Lord Belhaven came over on a secret Jacobite mission. Capt. Livingstone mdd. Eliz., sister to Sr. Robt. Hamilton, 2nd Bt. of Silverton Hill, which lady was sister to Lord Belhaven.

<sup>10</sup> A certain Capt. Murray of this regt. is mentioned as having shared in Lt.-Col. Wm. Livingstone's conspiracy to take the regt. over to Lord Dundee in the spring of 1689. Was imprisoned and deprived of his comm. (Creichton's Memoirs, published in 1731.) Also referred to in Genl. H. Mackay's letters.

<sup>11</sup> Son of Alex. Creichton, who was of Scotch descent. Bn. at Castle-fin, co. Donegal, 8 May 1648. Began his military career in 1674, when he went to Scotland, and, through interest, was appointed a "gentleman private" in the Scots Tp. of Life Gds. Having earned a reputation as a relentless foe to the persecuted "Covenanters" he was offered, and accepted, a lt.'s comm. in Capt. Fras. Stuart's Indep. Tp. of Dns., wh., in 1681, was incorporated into the Rl. Scots Dns. His services in this regt. have been handed down in his Memoirs, which he related to Dean Swift, in Ireland, when 82 years of age. Although written in Swift's graphic and fascinating style, the story of Creichton's whole military career and his share in Lt.-Col. Livingstone's conspiracy, which nearly cost them both their heads, bear the impress of truth in all the most important details.

<sup>12</sup> Bart. of Blairquhar, co. Ayr. The Whitefoords are said to have intermarried with the Blairs of that ilk.

* Extracted from MS. abstracts of the muster-rolls of this regt. (1682-88) in the possession of Mr. F. J. Grant, W.S., of Edinburgh; and from the Lists given in Scottish Regtal. Colours, pp. 70-71. This regt., wh. consisted of 14 companies of 80 men to each ey., was brought to England at the Revolution, and placed on the English Estabt. Like the Royal Scots Regt. of Ft. it consisted of 2 battns., which, at this period, were under the comd. of one colonel. The part taken by this regt. at the Revolution is narrated in the Introduction. In 1689 one batt. of the Scots Ft. Gds. was sent to Flanders, and the other batt. followed soon after. On 1 Sept. 1691 the captains of this regt. were granted the addl. rank of lt.-col. in the army. The lts. recd. the addl. rank of capt. 1 Oct. 1691.

<sup>3</sup> Served as capt. in the Royalist Army at the battle of Bothwell Bridge in 1679. (Treasury Register, 1673-1682). Son of Robt. M., of the Bass, who was connected with the early Lauderdale family. Lt.-Col. of the Scots Ft. Gds. 1 Mch. 1689. Bt.-Col. 1 Mch. 1691. Served with distinction as brigdr.-genl. in Flanders, and was chosen to succeed the Earl of Leven as col. of the regt., now known as the "Cameroniens," 19 Mch. 1694. His loyalty to the new régime made him a favourite with Wm. III., and his Episcopalian principles stood him in good stead with Queen Anne. He attained the rank of lt.-gen., and was sometime Govr. of Fort William. Retd. from the army in 1711. D. in 1716, and his will was proved 7 Dec. of that year. A pedigree of the family is in the possession of Mr. J. T. Maitland, of Croydon, who has furnished some of the above particulars.

<sup>4</sup> Promoted major in same regt. 1 Mch. 1689, and 2nd lt.-col. in do. 1 Sept. 1691. Brevet-Col. 1 June 1693. Succeeded Col. Maitland as lt.-col. of this regt. 7 May 1694. Served in Flanders from 1689 to 1695. Out of the regt. in Nov. 1695.

<sup>10</sup> Out of the regt. 30 Sept. 1690, when his cy. was given to Tho. Hamilton.

<sup>12</sup> Was appointed maj. of Sr. E. Hales's Regt. of Ft. 23 June 1685. Left the latter regt. in Nov. 1685. Among the Duke of Hamilton's MSS., in a packet of intercepted Jacobite letters, is one signed "George Middleton," written from Kilkenny to his father "Major Robt. Middleton," at Leith. This letter is dated 25 Mch. 1689.

<sup>13</sup> Out of the regt. before 1691. Probably the 2nd son of Patrick, 6th Baron Olyphant, by his 2nd wife. Succeeded in 1721 as 9th Baron Olyphant. Is said in the Extinct Peerage to have been a "colonel" in the army.

<sup>14</sup> Probably the "Lt. Jas. Maitland" mentioned as having served at the battle of Bothwell Bridge in 1679, and who, in conjunction with Capt. Jas. M., was named in the Distribution of the Forfeitures of those that were in the late Rebellion. (Treasury Register, 1673-1682).

<sup>15</sup> Of Melgum, co. Aberdeen. Promoted capt. before 1 Mch. 1689. Major 1 Sept. 1691. Bt.-Col. 1 June 1693. Lt.-Col. of the Scots Ft. Gds. 13 Nov. 1695. Served in Flanders and was present with his regt. at Landen in 1693, and at the siege of Namur in 1695. On the death of Brigdr.-Gen. Æneas Mackay he was appointed to Mackay's vacant regt. in the Scots Bde. (in the service of Holland) by comm. dated 30 May 1697. In the Hist. of the Scots Brigade (published in 1795) Robt. Murray is said to have attained the rank of lt.-genl. and to have been the father of Genl. Count Murray, who was long C.-in-C. of the Emperor Joseph's forces in the Netherlands.

<sup>19</sup> Capt. in same regt. 28 Feb. 1689. Out of the regt. before 1 Sept. 1691. In Douglas's Peerage of Scotland it is stated that John Somerville, 2nd son of Jas., Lord S., was lt.-col. of Col. Geo. Ramsay's Scotch Regt., but no mention is made of Robt. S. of the Scots Gds.

<sup>20</sup> Capt. in same regt. 28 Feb. 1689. Out of the regt. before 1 Sept. 1691. Served in Flanders in 1690.

<sup>23</sup> Adjt. to 1st batt. of the same regt. 1 Mch. 1689. Capt. in do. 1 Sept. 1691, with bt. rank of lt.-col. Served in Flanders and was present at Landen in 1693.

<sup>24</sup> A certain Robt. Keith was appointed major of the regt., now known as the 21st, or Scottish Fusiliers, after the Revolution, and was killed at Steinkirk in 1692. Cannon's Records of the 21st Regt.

<sup>25</sup> 5th son of John, 1st Marquis of Athole. Out of the regt. in 1689. Reappointed capt. in the Rl. Regt. of Ft. 17 Oct. 1701. In the MS. Army List for 1706.

<sup>29</sup> Capt.-Lt. in same regt. 1 Mch. 1689. Capt. in do. 30 Sept. 1690. Out of the regt. before 1 Sept. 1691.

<sup>34</sup> Lt. in same regt. 1 Mch. 1689. Out of the regt. before Sept. 1691. This officer's name is given as "Mairne" in the printed muster-rolls of this regt., but his comm. as lt. in W. O. Bk. 1258 gives Mair. A certain Capt. Mair, a Jacobite, is referred to in Capt. Jno. Creighton's Memoirs.

* Extracted from the muster-rolls of this regt., printed in Scottish Colours, pp. 71-2. This regt., now known as the Rl. Scots Fusiliers, came to England at the Revolution, and was placed on the English Estabt. In the following spring it embarked for Flanders on active service.

<sup>1</sup> 3rd son of Jas. Buchan, of Auchmaeoy, co. Aberdeen. Originally served in the Rl. Scots Regt. of Ft. (see Scottish Colours, note p. 19). Appointed lt.-col. of the Rl. Scots Fusiliers in 1682, and col. of do. 29 July 1686. Brig.-Genl. 12 Nov. 1688. Adhered to Jas. II. at the Revolution, and was removed from his comd. by the Pr. of Orange. Followed Jas. II. to Ireland in 1689, and in March 1690, was sent, with the rank of major-genl., to Scotland to supersede Maj.-Genl. Cannon as comr. of the Jacobite forces in that kingdom. The Highland army was surprised at Cromdale, in Strathspey, on the night of 1 May 1690 by the royalist forces, under Sr. Thos. Livingstone, who inflicted great loss on the Jacobite troops. “The very commanders themselves, the redoubted Buchan and Cannon,” says the author of the Life of Lt.-Genl. Hugh Mackay (p. 92) “were almost as much taken by surprise; and the one had only his shirt and night-eap, while the other was without sword, hat, and coat.” A humorous ballad, chronicling this defeat, puts these imaginary words into the mouth of a supposed fugitive :—

Quo' he, the highland army rues
That e'er we came to Cromdale.

Failing to effect anything in Scotland, Buehan retired to France. He d. in 1720.

<sup>6</sup> See note on Capt. Robt. Middleton of the Scots Ft. Gds. Probably the “James Middleton” referred to in the intercepted letter from George M. to his father, Maj. Robt. M., dated 25 Mch. 1689.

<sup>7</sup> Was succeeded as capt. of the grendr. ey. by Wm. Campbell on the 21 Feb. 1689. A note in the Comn. Entry Bk. states this was “a change” (i.e. an exchange of companies), but what became of Charteris does not appear.

<sup>8</sup> Adhered to Jas. II., and is said, in the pedigree of the family, to have been a major in the service of King James. Succeeded to the property of Auchinaeoy on the death of his father, who was elder brother to Col. Thos. Buchan.

<sup>9</sup> Promoted capt. in same regt. after the Revolution. Served in Flanders. His ey. was given to Jarvis Newton on 10 Nov. 1692.

<sup>10</sup> Not the Jno. Dalyell who was appointed lt.-col. of this regt. in 1695, who was killed at Blenheim in 1704. See p. 154, note 8.

<sup>11</sup> Promoted capt.-lt. in same regt. 7 Mch. 1692. Served at Steinkirk and succeeded to Robt. McKenzie's vacant ey. 1 Aug. 1692. Served at Landen in 1693, and was wounded (D'Auvergne's Hist. of the Campaigns in Flanders). At Blenheim there were two capt. of this name in the regt., and both were killed. Cannon's Records of the 21st Foot, p. 12.

<sup>12</sup> Probably related to Wm. Sharp of Scotscraig, on whom a baronetey was conferred in 1683. Capt. in same regt. in 1692. Transferred to the Scots Gds. 1 Sept. 1693. Served at Steinkirk. In Cannon's Records it is stated that Capt. Sharp, of this regt., was killed at Steinkirk, but this was not the case, as Colin McKenzie's commn., dated 1 Aug. 1692, gives: "lt. to Capt. Wm. Sharpe."

<sup>16</sup> Promoted capt. 1 Jan. 1692. Served at Steinkirk and Landen. In the MS. Army List for 1706, Sharp appears as major of this regt.

<sup>19</sup> Capt. in same regt. in Dec. 1688. Out of the regt. before 1 Mch. 1689, when his ey. was given to Tho. Paterson.

<sup>20</sup> A certain Jas. Prince was appointed capt. of an Indep. Cy. of Ft. "to be raised and sent to Jamaica," 16 Feb. 1694, wh. cy. was incorporated into Col. Luke Lillington's Regt. of Ft. in Dec. 1694.

* War Office Records.

<sup>2</sup> Disbanded in Jan. 1689. In a letter from Jas. II. to Lord Dartmouth, dated 14 Oct. 1688, the king thus refers to his regt. of Irish Ft. Gds. :—“The Scots and Irish troops are marching as fast as they can to joyne me. Dorrington with one battalion of the Irish gards (sic) was to be as this night at Warwick.” Dartmouth Papers.

<sup>6</sup> 2nd son of Richd. B., of Kilcash (grandson of Walter, 11th Earl of Ormonde). Was of Westcourt, co. Kilkenny. Served as lt.-col. of this regt. in 1685. (See p. 13). D. in 1714.

<sup>7</sup> Belonged to an English family. Superseded the 2nd Duke of Ormonde as col. of this regt. prior to the Revolution. Commanded both battalions of the King's Ft. Gds. (remodelled in 1689) during the campaign in Ireland 1689–91. Distinguished himself at the Boyne, and was Govr. of Limerick in the latter portion of 1690. Taken prisoner at Aughrim. Imprisoned for a short time in the Tower of London. Served subsequently in the French army, and attained the rank of lt.-gen. D. at Paris in 1718. D'Alton's Irish Army List, II., pp. 9–11.

* From the Staat van borlag of 1688, in the Hague Library. This regt., which now ranks as the 5th (Northumberland) Fusiliers, consisted of 12 companies in Nov. 1688. The names of the subalterns do not appear.

<sup>1</sup> Tho. Tollemache. See Vol. I., p. 212, note 1. Succeeded the Duke of Berwick as Govr. of Portsmouth in Dec. 1688. Col. of the Coldstm. Gds. vice the Earl of Craven 1 May 1689. Maj.-Gen. 20 Dec. 1690. Served the campaign in 1691 in Ireland, and was at the battle of Aughrim and present at the capitulation of Limerick. Promoted Lt.-gen. 23 Jan. 1692. Mortally wounded at Brest 8 June 1694, and d. at Plymouth a few days later.

<sup>2</sup> Godfrey Lloyd. Son of Sr. Godfrey L., Knt., a former capt. in the 1st Ft. Gds., and an eminent engineer officer. Was appointed col. of a regt. of ft. (late the Duke of Bolton's) in the West Indies 24 Sept. 1692. Held this command until 1 Jan. 1695. His son, Ens. Godfrey L., junr., was appointed capt. in his father's former regt. (the 5th) 16 Mch. 1695.

<sup>3</sup> Edward Lloyd. Probably of the same family as the lt.-col. of above regt. Served many years in this regt., and was appointed col. of the same 1 May 1689. D. 26 Aug. 1694.

<sup>7</sup> The orthography of this officer's name is evidently wrong. A certain David Renovard (?) appears as a cornet in Col. Fras. Langston's Regt. of Horse in 1697, and the latter may have been related to the above.

* Ibid. This regt., which consisted of 12 companies in Nov. 1688, now ranks as the 6th, or Rl. Warwickshire Regt. of Ft. The names of the subalterns do not appear.

<sup>1</sup> Sr. Hy. Belasysse had a distinguished and chequered career. He was son of Sr. Rich. B. of Ludworth and Owton, co. Durham, Knt. In 1674 he raised a cy. of musketeers for the service of the United Provinces of the Netherlands. Served at the siege of Grave in 1674, at the siege of Maestricht in 1676, at the battle of Mont-Cassel in 1677, at the battle of St. Denis in 1678. (Cannon's Records of the 6th Foot.) Was appointed col. of the above regt. 3 Apl. 1678. Accompanied his regt. to England on the outbreak of the Monmouth Rebellion in 1685. About 1687 he incurred the displeasure of the Pr. of Orange, and was forbidden the Court. Tho' not actually deprived of his regt. until Apl. 1688, he had practically ceased to command it. After the Revolution, was again taken into favour, was made a brigdr.-gen. 1 Apl. 1689, and appointed col. of a newly raised regt. (now 22nd Ft.) 28 Sept. same year. Served at the Boyne, at the sieges of Limerick and Athlone, at the battle of Aughrim, and on the reduction of Galway was appointed govr. of that fortress. Maj.-Gen. in Apl. 1692, and comded. a brigade in Flanders the same year. Served at Landen in 1693. Lt.-Gen. in Oct. 1694. Transferred to the colonelcy of the 2nd Ft. in 1701. Was appointed second in command of the expedition to Cadiz in 1702. Dismissed the service, by sentence of court-martial, in 1702, for participating in the looting of Port St. Mary. Was subsequently M.P. for the city of Durham, and in 1713 was given the governorship of Berwick. D. 16 Dec. 1617, and was bd. in Westr. Abbey.

<sup>4</sup> Solomon Slater. On 1 Apl. 1687, Capt. Slater was appointed capt. in Col. Hy. Cornwall's Regt. of Ft. on the Home Estabt., retaining his cy. in above regt. until Mch. 1688, when his cy. was given to Col. Babington. Appointed maj. of Col. Bevil Skelton's Regt. of Ft. 9 Oct. 1688. Adhered to Jas. II, and was appointed Muster-Master-Genl. to the Irish Army in 1689. See D'Alton's Irish Army List, I., p. 39.

<sup>5</sup> Humphrey Langham. This officer, in his zeal for the Protestant cause, undertook the dangerous task of coming privately to England, in Oct. 1688, with a trunk full of copies of the Prince of Orange's Declaration to the people of England, which he disseminated in likely quarters. The result of this proceeding is referred to in a letter of the 3 Nov. 1688 to John Ellis, Esqr.:—"His Majesty having notice that a printed paper called the Prince of Orange's Declaration is dispersed about the town, and the dispenser himself (who is now in Newgate) was seized, with several about him; it is ordered that a proclamation be published forthwith, forbidding all persons, on pain of high treason, to read, write, disperse, or conceal any of the said Declarations, but give notice thereof to the next Justice of the Peace." (Ellis Correspondence, II., p. 272-3). Another letter, dated 17 Nov. 1688, says:—"A bill was brought to the Grand Jury against Capt. Lexham (sic) for dispersing the Prince of Orange's Declarations, but would not find it, as is reported, unless they had a copy thereof" (Ibid. p. 304). Laugham's services in furthering his master's cause do not appear to have met with much recognition from Wm. III., whose historian (Boyer) bears witness to the truth of the above facts.

<sup>8</sup> Robt. Goodwyn. Appointed col. of a regt. of ft., vice Jno. Hales, 26 Sept. 1692. Served with his regt. in the West Indies from 1692 to Oct. 1693, when he died.

<sup>9</sup> Probably son of the former col. of this regt., who d. abt. 1675. Was appointed col. of a regt. of ft. 30 Oct. 1693, vice Jno. Foulkes, and served with the same in Jamaica. This regt. was disbanded after the Peace of Ryswick. Appointed col. of a newly raised foot regt. in 1705.

<sup>10</sup> Began his career in Holland as page to Sr. Wm. Temple. Major of above regt. in Nov. 1688. Was captured, with four companies of above regt., on board a Dutch vessel, which got separated from the Dutch fleet, by Capt. Aylmer in H.M.S. "Swallow," and was imprisoned until the Pr. of Orange's accession was an accomplished fact. Lt.-Col. of this regt. in 1689. Served in Ireland and Flanders. Exchanged to the 1st Ft. Gds. as capt. and Lt.-col. 25 Feb. 1692. Col. of his former regt. 23 June 1695. Comded. the regt. in the Cadiz Expedition of 1702. D. in 1703.

* Ibid. Consisted of 10 companies in Nov. 1688. This regt., like Tollemache's and Belasyse's, dated its existence from 1674. It may justly be said to have been the most favoured of the six British regts. in the service of Holland, as the Prince of Orange, in 1678, bestowed the colonelcy on the gallant Earl of Ossory, who commanded the whole of the British brigade in Holland, with the rank of maj.-genl. (Hist. of the Scotch Bde., printed in 1795). At the battle of St. Denis the regt. had 3 officers killed and 10 wounded. After Lord Ossory's death, 30 July 1680, the Prince of Orange bestowed the colonelcy on Lt.-Col. Alex. Canan, who accompanied the regt. to England in 1685, on the outbreak of the Monmouth rebellion. "After the rebellion was over, King James wrote to the Prince of Orange, desiring that as he kept Col. Cannon in England his regt. might be given to the Earl of Pembroke, with chief command of the six regts." (Ibid.) This wish was granted. The Earl of Pembroke was succeeded by Lt.-Col. Jno. Cutts as acting col. of the regt., and by the Hon. Henry Sydney as honorary colonel. "Tis true that Mr. Sidney hath my Lord of Ossory's Regt." wrote the Marquis d'Abbeville to Lord Preston from the Hague on 12 Nov. 1688. (Preston Papers). After the revolution, Sydney received higher preferments, and the regt. was known for the next five years as Cutts's. It earned fresh laurels at the Boyne, at the siege of Limerick, and at Steinkirk. Disbanded after the Peace of Ryswick.

<sup>1</sup> See p. 11, note 2. This officer's connection with the above regt. practically ceased from the 2 Aug. 1685, and why his name appears as col. in 1688 is not explainable, unless it were done out of honour to King James.

<sup>3</sup> 3rd son of the 8th Earl of Derby. Succeeded his bro. Wm. (who had md. a dau. of the Earl of Ossory) as 10th Earl in 1702. Appointed col. of a regt. of ft. (the 16th) 1 Aug. 1692, vice Robt. Hodges, killed at Steinkirk. Retd. in 1705. D. in 1736 s. p.

<sup>4</sup> See his comm. as major on p. 240. Appointed Dep.-Gov. of the Tower of London 6 Aug. 1689. Capt. and Lt.-Col. in 1st Ft. Gds. 15 Oct. 1689. Out of the regt. before 1702.

<sup>5</sup> A certain John Cunningham was appointed major of Col. Robt. Mackay's Regt. of Scots Ft. 7 May 1694. W. O. Com. Bk. 1260.

<sup>7</sup> Tho. Brudenell. Eldest son of Ric. B., by Eliz., dau. of Sr. Walter Lyttleton, Knt. (Edye's Hist. of the Rl. Marine Forces, I., p. 125). Lt.-Col. of Col. Jno. Foulkes' Regt. of Ft. 21 Sept. 1689. Lt.-Col. of Col. Edwd. Lloyd's Regt. of Ft. (5th Fusiliers) 1 Oct. 1692. Col. of a regt. of ft. vice Hy. Rowe 13 Mch. 1695. Wounded at the battle of the Boyne. Served also in Portugal. Appointed col. of a regt. of marines in 1698, wh. was disbanded soon afterwards. Col. of a regt. of ft. "to be employed in Ireland," 21 June 1701. Maj.-Gen. 1 June 1706. D. at Gibraltar in 1707.

<sup>9</sup> Emanuel Scrope Howe, bro. to the 1st Visct. Howe. Capt. in 1st Ft. Gds. 1 Apl. 1689. Served in Flanders and was wounded at the siege of Namur in 1695. Retd. from the Ft. Gds. same year. (Hamilton's Grendr. Gds.) Col. of a regt. of ft. (15th) 1 Nov. 1695. Brigdr.-Gen. before 1702. D. or left the service in 1709.

<sup>10</sup> Jno. Grimes. See p. 152, note 5. See also the comm. of Jno. Cutts as capt. of a cy. on p. 239, vice Jno. Grimes.

<sup>11</sup> Called Robt. "Parsons" in W. O. Comm. Bk. 1260. Served in Ireland and Flanders. In the regt. 1 Aug. 1692.

* Ibid. The Scots Brigade, which, in 1688, consisted of 3 regts. (each of 12 companies) had been in the service of the Netherlands since 1572—first, as independent companies, and aftds. as regts.—prior to its coming to England in 1685. Altho' not engaged at Sedgemoor, the brigade made such an excellent impression on King James, that when storms began to darken the political horizon at home, in Jan. 1688, he recalled the English and Scots regts. from Holland. The States declined to accede to the King's request, alleging they were not bound to send the six regts. to England unless that country was engaged in a foreign war. But they allowed as many British officers to return to England as chose to do so, and their places were filled up by staunch Protestants. Mackay's regt. was the first to set foot on English ground when the Prince of Orange landed on the memorable 5th of Nov. 1688, and a detachment of the regt. gained an advantage over the King's troops at Wineanton the same month. The regt. proceeded, on active service, to Scotland in 1689, and was terribly cut up at Killiecrankie. Returned once more to Flanders in 1691. After a splendid record of 210 years' service in the Netherlands, the regts. forming the Scots-Dutch Brigade were, by an ill-advised decree of the States General, issued in 1782, deprived of their colours, their uniform, their precedence, their very nationality and individuality, and were metamorphosised into Dutch troops. The Scots Brigade having thus ceased to exist, a regt. was formed in England which bore the well-known title of "Scots Brigade," and which numbered among its officers many who had formerly served in Holland in the old brigade, but who had declined to swear primary allegiance to a foreign power in lieu of their lawful King. The new Scots Brigade ranked as the old 94th Regt. of British Infantry until the exigencies of a reduced military establishment compelled its final reduction.

<sup>3</sup> John Buchan. Youngest son of Jas. Buchan of Auchmacoy, co. Aberdeen. This officer offers one of the many sad instances of the divisions in families caused by civil war, as he served in Scotland as Lt.-col. of Ramsay's regt. in William the Third's army at the very time that his elder brother, Thomas, was serving as e-in-e. of James the Second's army in the same kingdom. Present at Killiecrankie, and took part in the operations subsequent to that battle. Recommended for promotion by Mackay before the latter left Scotland in 1690. (Letter from Gen. Mackay to Wm. III.) Appointed col. of a newly raised Scottish regt. of ft. before 1694, with which he served in Flanders until the Peace of Ryswick, when his regt. appears to have been disbanded.

<sup>5</sup> The orthography of this officer's surname has been maugled almost beyond recognition. His name in the flesh was Walter Macdonald Bowie. His war services in the Scottish Campaign of 1689-90 were rewarded by the brevet rank of Lt.-col. being conferred upon him, 24 Dec. 1690. He served at Steinkirk and at Landen. Transferred to Col. Geo. Hamilton's Scots Regt. of Ft. as regtal. Lt.-col. 1 June 1695.

<sup>7</sup> See p. 154, note 5. The Hon. Aeneas Mackay, 2nd son of John, 2nd Baron Reay. This officer's well-known attachment to the cause of Protestantism is inconsistent with his voluntarily leaving the service of the Prince of Orange for that of Jas. II. in March 1688. It is most probable that he accepted a company in Col. Wachop's Scottish Regt. in order to be better able to carry out some political mission with which he had been intrusted by Wm. of Orange. Certain it is that soon after arriving in Scotland he was arrested as a suspicious person and confined prisoner in the castle of Edinburgh. (Life of Lt.-Gen. H. Mackay, p. 117, note.) On the accession of the Prince of Orange Capt. Mackay was released and appointed major in the Regt. of Scots Dragoons. Was instrumental in detecting Lt.-Col. Livingston's plot to carry the regt. over to the enemy. Distinguished himself in the night attack on the Highland army at Cromdale, in 1690. Appointed Lt.-col. of Genl. Hugh Mackay's Scots Regt. in 1691. Was at the battle of Aughrim. Commanded his uncle's regt. at the battle of Steinkirk, where he was wounded. Appointed col. of this regt. 1 Aug. 1692. Brig.-Gen. in 1695. His constitution was enfeebled by wounds he had received in action, and he d. at Bath in 1697, leaving issue by his widow (Countess Puckler) who survived until 1761.

<sup>10</sup> Sir Chas. Graham. Referred to in a letter from Col. Bevil Skelton to Visct. Preston, dated at the Hague 11 Jan. 1686 (Preston Papers). His name does not appear in Le Neve's Knights, nor in any list of baronets? Brigade-Major to the Eng. and Scots Bdes. in Flanders 1 Apr. 1691. Succeeded to the colonelcy of Brigdr. George Ramsay's Regt. in the Scots Brigade in Holland, when Ramsay was appointed col. of the Scots Ft. Gds. 1 Sept. 1691. Wounded at Steinkirk in 1692. Served with his regt. in Flanders until 1697, after which date his services have not been traced.

<sup>11</sup> Halkett. No trace is to be found of an Everard Halkett in any of the Comm. Entry Books. It is possible that the above was Edward Halkett, who was capt. of the gendr. cy. of this regt. in 1693 (W. O. Com. Bk. 1260), and was killed at the battle of Ramillies, as a major, in 1706. See Burke's Commoners, I., p. 339.

<sup>12</sup> Younger brother to Capt. Aeneas Mackay. Educated in Holland under the eye of his uncle, Gen. Hugh Mackay of Scoury. At the revolution was appointed capt. of the gendr. cy. in his uncle's regt. Took an active part in the battle of Killiecrankie, where he received eight broad-sword wounds on his body and was left for dead on the field. (Life of Lt.-Gen. H. Mackay, p. 53 note). Promoted major same year. Appointed maj. of Col. Earl's Regt. of Ft., and served in Ireland. Promoted Lt.-col. in 1694. Served in Flanders, and was appointed col. of the Scottish Fusiliers 13 Nov. 1695. D. at Tongue, the seat of his family, in Dec. 1696.

<sup>13</sup> Boyer, Wm. III.'s historian, in his account of the skirmish at Wincanton between an advanced party of the Prince's troops and a Royalist detachment in Nov. 1688, says: "Twenty-five of the Prince of Orange's men commanded by one Campbell (sic), a lieut. in Mackay's Regt., routed a detachment of 70 Horse and 50 Dragoons of the Royal army, commanded by Clifford, Sarsfield, and Webb."

* Ibid. This regt. was sent to Scotland in March 1689, and half of it was engaged at Killiecrankie. Returned to Flanders in 1691, and was actively engaged at Steinkirk and Landen.

<sup>1</sup> For a century, prior to the Revolution of 1688, the name of Balfour had been a household word in the Dutch army. In the campaign against the renowned Don John of Austria in the Netherlands, Col. Hy. Balfour, of Burleigh, and his Scotch companies gained great distinction. And again, when the Thirty Years' War broke out, we find a Sir Wm. Balfour, who commanded a troop of horse in the States' army, taken prisoner by the Spaniards at Emerich in 1622. The above Col. Barthold Balfour was appointed a brigdr.-genl. 1 Mch. 1689. He fell at Killiecrankie, having been abandoned by his panic-stricken soldiers. (Life of Lt.-Gen. Hugh Mackay, p. 50.)

<sup>2</sup> Eldest son of Sr. Tho. Livingston, 1st Bart., of Newbigging, Scotland. Succeeded the Earl of Dunmore as col. of the Rl. Scots Das. 31 Dec. 1688. Gained a decisive victory over the Highland army at Cromdale in May 1690. Appointed c.-in-c. in Scotland in 1691, when Gen. Mackay proceeded to Ireland. Created Visct. Teviot 4 Dec. 1696. Comded. a bde. in Flanders in 1697. Attained the rank of lt.-gen. 1 Jan. 1704. Disposed of his regt. to Lord John Hay the same year. D. in London 14 Jan. 1711, aged 60, and was bd. in Westr. Abbey. M. I.

<sup>3</sup> Lauder. Served as lt.-col. of above regt. at Killiecrankie, "where he was abandoned by his party, and laboured without forces to rally them." (Gen. Mackay's Despatches). Succeeded Brigdr. Balfour as col. of the regt. Commanded the regt. at Steinkirk, where he was taken prisoner. Fought at Landen. In 1697 was still in comd. of this regt., wh. was then quartered in Guelderland.

<sup>8</sup> Younger bro. to Sr. Tho. Livingston, Bt., of this regt. A certain Capt. Livingston of this regt. was taken prisoner at Landen (D'Auvergne), and in the following Sept., one of this surname, whose christian name does not appear, was appointed lt.-col. of Col. Jas. Ferguson's Regt. (now the 26th). On the death of Visct. Teviot, in 1711, his bro., Alex. L., succeeded to the baronetcy, but d. s. p.

<sup>10</sup> Erroneously called Robert Cunningham in Cannon's Records of the 7th Hussars. Appointed major of the Earl of Selkirk's late regt. of horse 31 Dec. 1688. Col. of a newly raised regt. of ft. in Scotland, 1689. The latter regt. was disbanded when the clans submitted to Wm. III., and Cunningham was given the comd. of a corps of dragoons, now known as the 7th Hussars, 30 Dec. 1690. Brig.-Gen. 1 June 1696. Served in Flanders in comd. of a cavalry brigade. Succeeded in the comd. of his regt. of dns. by Wm., Lord Jedburgh, 1 Oct. 1696.

<sup>12</sup> Probably Arnot. The Arnots had intermarried with the Balfours of Burleigh on several occasions. Gen. Hugh Mackay in his letter to Lord Melville from Blair Castle, 30 Aug. 1689, giving details concerning the battle of Killiecrankie, says:—"One Lt. Arnault of Balfour's regt. hath behaved himself very honestly . . . he had his colonel's promise to be recommended to the first vacant ey. of his regt." (Memoirs of Gen. Mackay, published by the Bannatyne Club, p. 272.) A certain Wm. Arnot was appointed capt. in the Earl of Leven's Regt. of Ft., and served in Flanders. Promoted lt.-col. in same regt. in 1693.

<sup>3</sup> The Hon. Geo. Ramsay, 3rd son of Geo., 2nd Earl of Dalhousie. Commanded above regt. when it came to England in Nov. 1688. Served at Killiecrankie, where he was abandoned by most of his men, who fled panic-stricken from the field. (Mackay's relation of the battle in his Memoirs, p. 266.) Brig.-Gen. 1 Jan. 1690. Col. of the Scots Guards, vise Lt.-Gen. the Hon. Jas. Douglas, 1 Sept. 1691. Commanded a brigade in Flanders from 1691–96, and was at the battle of Landen. Maj.-Gen. 6 Mch. 1694. C.-in-C. in Scotland 1 Feb. 1700. Lt.-Gen. in 1702. The following portrait of Gen. Ramsay, in 1702, by Macky, is quoted in Douglas's Peerage of Scotland (Wood's edition), I., p. 406:—"He is a gentleman of a great deal of fire and very brave; of a sanguine complexion, well shaped, a thorough soldier, and towards fifty years old." D. at Edinburgh 2 Sept. 1705.

<sup>7</sup> Corbet. Served in Scotland in 1689 and in Flanders from 1691–96. Major of Col. Lauder's Regt. in the Scots Bde. 1 Aug. 1692. Served at Landen. Lt.-Col. of Col. the Hon. Aeneas Mackay's Scots Regt. 1 May 1694. Major of the Scots Gds. 1 July 1697.

<sup>8</sup> The Hon. Jno. Ramsay, 2nd son of Geo., 2nd Earl of Dalhousie. On the death of his elder bro., Wm., 3rd Earl of Dalhousie, became tutor-at-law to the deceased Earl's children, 17 Apr. 1683, but being absent in Holland did not enter upon this guardianship until 1688. Douglas's Peerage of Scotland, I., p. 406.

<sup>9</sup> Mackay. Younger bro. to Lt.-Gen. Hugh Mackay of Scourie. Lt.-Col. of Hugh Mackay's Scots Regt. at Killiecrankie, where he was slain. "The most part of the officers of my battalion," wrote Gen. Mackay to Lord Melville, from Edinburgh, 16 Sept. 1689, "were killed upon the spot; my brother [Lt.-Col. Jas. Mackay], Capt. Lamy and Capt. Angus Mackay, who were as brave as any men could be, were shot, and afterwards, being abandoned of their men, despatched with broadswords; my nephew, Capt. Robert Mackay, badly wounded. Capt.-Lt. Mackenzie left mortally wounded on the field . . . I lost about six very good subalterns." Gen. Mackay's relation of the battle in his Memoirs, published by the Bannatyne Club, p. 282.

* W. O. Com. Bk. 1258. The nucleus of this regt. was raised in Holland and was composed of the Prince's followers who accompanied him to England. The commissions dated 10 Nov. appear to have been signed at Exeter. The regt. was not completed until some weeks later. Part of this regt. served under Marlborough at the sieges of Cork and Kinsale in 1690. Transformed into a Marine regt. in Aug. 1698. Disbanded in May 1699. Reformed into a Marine regt. under the comd. of Col. Hy. Mordaunt 10 Mch. 1702.

<sup>4</sup> Younger bro. to Chas., Earl of Peterborough. In the Army List for 1702 he appears as lt.-col. of Mordaunt's Mariues. D. a brigdr.-genl. 2 Feb. 1713.

* W. O. Com. Bk. 1258. This regt. was chiefly composed of the Prince's followers who had come with him from Holland. The comms. dated 12 Nov. appear to have been signed at Exeter. The regt. was not completed until some weeks later. In 1692 this regt. was sent to the West Indies. It does not appear when it was disbanded, but it was probably one of those swept away at the Peace of Ryswick.

<sup>2</sup> This officer's name is sometimes spelt "Foulkes" and sometimes "Fowke." He is said to have been an English officer who was cashiered by order of Jas. II. and who commanded a regt. in Monmouth's army at Sedgemoor (Roberts's Life of Monmouth, Vol. II.). Succeeded to the command of above regt. on 20 Sept. 1689, and was appointed c.-in-e. in the West Indies, Sept. 1692, wh. post he kept until his decease in Sept. 1693.

<sup>6</sup> The comm. gives : "to be ensign to Capt. Savery" (sic), but there is no comm. for a capt. of this name in this, or any other, regt. Appointed ens. in the Duke of Bolton's Regt. of Ft. 24 Oct. 1689.

<sup>7</sup> Capt. in above regt. 30 Oct. 1693. His services are recorded in a MS. at the War Office, entitled "Recommendations for Commissions in the New Levies, 1706," as follows :—"Major James Monjoy (sic) had a comm. as major in Col. Lillingston's Regt. in the year 1695, and served in that regt. many years, especially in the West Indies, where he suffered extremely. Your Grace [of Marlborough] has been pleased to grant him a second comm.—as major—in the last Levies, and is now in Ireland. He humbly prays your Grace, in consideration of his long and faithful service, as also of his being the eldest major, will be pleased to grant him a comm. of lt.-col. in the New Levies."

LIEUTS.

— Simmons.<sup>9</sup>

* A certain number of independent troops of horse and companies of foot were raised by the supporters of the Prince of Orange on the latter's landing in England. Most of these troops and companies were incorporated into regts. of horse and foot when the Orange Cause was firmly established. None of the comns. issued in Nov. 1688 to the above-named officers are forthcoming, but when their companies were incorporated into regts., some weeks later, the above officers dated their service from 20 Nov. 1688.

<sup>1</sup> Of East Barnet. Kted. at W'hall 12 July 1670. Son of Hy. P., a clerk in Chancery, who was cousin to Sr. Edwd. Peyton, Bt. Le Neve describes Sr. Robert as "a topping anti-courtier in King Charles the Second's time." He served under Wm. of Orange in Holland, and was given the rank of colonel in Sept. 1688 (Luttrell's Diary, under date of 28 Sept. 1688). Accompanied the Prince to England and was commissioned to raise a regt. of foot. The regt. he raised, wh. now ranks as the 20th Ft., was not completed until Feb. 1689, but Peyton's commn. was ante-dated to 20 Nov. 1688. D. before the 1st June 1689.

<sup>2</sup> Of Dunster Castle, Somerset. Son of Thos. L., of Dunster. Was commissioned by the Prince of Orange to raise a regt. of foot in Nov. 1688. This regt., wh. now ranks as the 19th Foot, was not completed until Feb. 1689, but Luttrell's commn. was ante-dated to 20 Nov. 1688. D. in Dec. 1690.

* This regt, wh. now ranks as the 7th Dn. Gds., was raised by Wm., Lord Cavendish, soon after the Prince of Orange landed in England. It is probable that some of the officers had commanded volunteer troops of horse, in Nov. 1688, but their comns. are not forthcoming. No major was appointed until 24 May 1689.

<sup>1</sup> Became Marquis of Hartington when his father (Wm., 4th Earl of Devonshire) was, in 1694, created Marquis of Hartington and Duke of Devonshire. Macky, in his Characters of the English Nobility, says of Lord Cavendish: "In his youth he was one of the greatest rakes, but a firm upholder of the Constitution." Served in Flanders. Resigned his comm. as col. of above regt. in 1690, and was succeeded by Meinhart, Duke of Leinster. Succeeded as 2nd Duke in 1701.

<sup>3</sup> Appointed Lt.-col. of Col. Hugh Wyndham's Regt. of Horse 2 Jan. 1694. Served several campaigns in Flanders, and had command of a brigade. Maj.-Gen. in 1707. Envoy to the Duke of Savoy in 1709. Lt.-Gen. same year. Held the colonelcy of the regt., now known as the 6th Dn. Gds., from 1 Oct. 1706 until 1712.

<sup>6</sup> See p. 170, note 8. Served in Flanders and was in the regt. in Apr. 1693.

<sup>7</sup> Probably Wm. Nevile of Holbeck, co. York, son of Gervase N., of same place, by Dorothy, dau. of Fras. Cavendish of Doveridge, co. Derby. High Sheriff for co. York in 1710. D. s. p. 1713.

COMMISSIONS SIGNED BY THE PRINCE OF ORANGE, 1688.

Mem.—Many of the commissions signed by the Prince of Orange are conspicuous by their absence in the Commission Entry Books. The comm. entries between 10 Nov. 1688 and 13 Feb. 1689, were written up at a subsequent period, and are characterised by many obvious omissions. The officers who belonged to the late King James's English army, who elected to serve the Prince of Orange, had their comms. renewed, and appear in the regimental Lists of 31 Dec. 1688, and subsequent Lists in 1689.

* W. O. Bk. 1258. The Royal Scots. See List of this regt. on p. 131, and note thereto. Marshal Schomberg's commn. as col. of this regt. is not forthcoming, but the above list is headed : "The Rl. Regt. of Ft. commanded by Duke Frederick, Marshal de Schomberg." It would appear that the lt.-col., the major, and perhaps a few other officers, had been temporarily deprived of their comms. for not recognising the authority of the Prince of Orange and his generals. "Having received orders to embark for the Netherlands, to replace the Dutch troops which were in England, the regt. mutinied, and, seizing the money appointed for their pay, marched with 4 pieces of cannon towards Scotland." (Cannon's Records.) Several regts. were sent in pursuit, and Luttrell tells us (in his Diary for Jan. 1689) that 500 men and 20 officers of the Rl. Scots Regt. were taken prisoners in Lincolnshire." Three or four of the ringleaders were dismissed the service, and the remainder were pardoned. The above event gave rise to the Mutiny Act.

SIR HENRY SHERE, K.T.,

BY

CHARLES DALTON, F.R.G.S.

REPRINTED FROM

"PROCEEDINGS," ROYAL ARTILLERY INSTITUTION, NO. 9, VOL. XIX.

Son of a Deptford sea-captain. Scholar and scientific officer; engineer and artillerist. Was employed at Tangier, from 1669 to 1683, as surveyor and constructor of fortifications. His plan and report on Sir Hugh Cholmley's famous Mole at Tangier is still in existence (Tangier State Papers, 10 March, 1669–1670). Was engaged in various operations against the Moors, particularly in the sanguinary action of 24 October, 1680, on which occasion Sir Palmes Fairborne, the Governor of Tangier, received a mortal wound, of which he died three days after. This event is graphically related in Shere's MS. Diary (Tangier State Papers, No. 30). On the evacuation of Tangier, in the autumn of 1683, Shere was employed under Colonel George Legge (1st Lord Dartmouth) in demolishing the Mole, and the several batteries which he had caused to be erected (Dartmouth MSS., which contain several of Shere's letters from Tangier). On 15 June, 1685, a commission was signed, by James II., appointing "Henry Shere, Esq<sup>re</sup>., to be Comptroller of Our Train of Artillery for this present expedition in oppcsing the traitorous practises and attempts of those rebels who are now openly in arms against us." The above Train was got ready at Portsmouth 16 June, 1685 (Cleaveland Notes, p. 99). Nicholas Sandford was appointed Commissary to this Train—his Commission bearing date 15 June 1685.

At the battle of Sedgemoor it is on record (Life of the Duke of Monmouth, by George Roberts) that Peter Mews, Bishop of Winchester, assisted Shere to work his guns, and in the list of commanders on the King's side, at this battle (Roberts, vol. II.), the Bishop's name is bracketted with Henry Shere, as joint commanders of the Artillery Train! Nor is this at all strange when we remember that Bishop Mews fought on the Royalist side in the Great Civil War (like Compton, Bishop of London) before entering the Church. Macaulay also tells us that the Bishop of Winchester lent his coach horses and traces to drag the heavy guns into position at Sedgemoor.

Shere was knighted 20 July, 1685 (London Gazette), and appointed Surveyor of the Ordnance, by Royal Grant, 25 September, in same year; Lieut.-General of a Train of Artillery in November, 1688; is said to have translated Polybius. Was living in 1696.

LETTERS FROM SIR HENRY SHERE

TO

LORD DARTMOUTH.

(Printed in the Report on Lord Dartmouth's MSS., Hist. MSS. Comn., 11th Report, Appendix, Part V.)

1685, July 8. Wells.—Takes for granted that the war is at an end, since the Duke of Monmouth is taken, and asks for speedy orders what to do, whether to march with the army to London or go with the train to Portsmouth. So Love, the provost-marshall, has unhappily killed Sir John Talbot's son, but they all agree it was in his [self]defence.

1688, Oct. 12. Tower.—His lordship will conclude that his condition is very unable when he is under the necessity of writing by another hand than his own. God knows it is an affliction, by manifold degrees superior to his disease, to be disabled in this important occasion from rendering the duty and service required from him. He made another attempt to attend the Board of Ordnance yesterday, but had to retire after some stay, so very ill that the doctor ordered him to be bled anew and to take another dose of the Jesuit's powder. Details the steps taken to get the train of artillery, &c., in order, and assures his lordship that everything is ready to march upon the King's first summons. The Board sits morning and afternoon. Sir Edward [Sherburne] very temperate and very diligent, so that it is hoped he will acquit himself of his promise to Lord Dartmouth.

1688, Nov. 1st. Tower.—Expresses his shame and grief at being rendered so incapable of serving his lordship and the office in so importaut an occasion; though he has lost his fever, he cannot say he has yet found his strength. Was received very graciously by the King last night, and asked if he were in a condition to march with the army; he assured His Majesty that he was, and accordingly his commission<sup>1</sup> was ordered to be drawn.

1688, Nov. 14th. Basingstoke.—His long sickness and sudden departure upon the King's commands to march will excuse him for having written so seldom. They are marched to this place in good order, where they halt a day, and pursue their route to Salisbury to-morrow. Never did any train of this extent march with less disorder; they stretch at least 4 miles, are 1,500 horses and 250 carriages, whereof they have not left one behind since they left London. Will give his lordship a faithful and punctual account of all occurrences.

1688, Dec. 13th. Whitehall.—“I am now in the lobby of the Council Chamber, attending the Council of Lords, who are exceedingly pleased with our deportment, both abroad and here in the town; for your regiment and the train have continued entire when the whole army disbanded, and we marched through the city to the Tower, where there was so great a tumult that nobody believed we should have escaped a man of us, in fine we are now safe, and have the approbation of our betters, and your regiment sent for me this morning to secure the Lords from the rage of the rabble. God bless you and send you safe hither."

1688, Dec. 17th. Whitehall.—“The King came through the town last night, and was attended through the streets to Whitehall with great shouts of the people and bells ringing. I waited on His Majesty this morning to have directions how we are to proceed at our Board, who told me that he could not tell how to direct me . . . We have made no application to the Prince as yet, though all other officers have, and what we shall do God knows, or what is best in prudence and honesty.”

LETTER FROM MAJOR JEREMY MAHONEY

to

LT.-COL. THOS. RADCLIFFE,

Of the Duke of Newcastle's Regt. of Foot, at Newcastle.

(Hist. MSS. Comm., 11th Report, Appx. VI.)

---

1688, Nov. 22. York.—His Grace went out of Yorek 2 hours before wee arrived heare. The reason of the sudden departure of his Grace was that all the Militia of the countrey came to towne without orders, and their confounded ring-leaders had the impudence to speak to his Grace for joyning with them for a free Parliament; and therefore his Grace went away in the greatest pet and discontentment of the world; he was extreamely disatisfied that wee came through this confounded city . . . the Scotch battalion is not marcht as yet from Hull . . . there is nothing to be expected from this diabolical rabeli (sic) but confusion, rebellion, disorder and disloyalty. "A work which should be in every mess-room in the Service."

---

WATERLOO ROLL CALL,
WITH NOTES AND PORTRAITS.

BY

CHARLES DALTON, F.R.G.S.,

AUTHOR OF "LIFE AND TIMES OF GENERAL SIR EDWARD CECIL," ETC.

---

EXTRACTS FROM REVIEWS.

"A commemorative volume reciting the names and recalling the exploits of those who took a chief part in the victory of the day. The difficulty of obtaining lists is so great that this 'Waterloo Roll Call,' which reflects so much credit upon Mr. Dalton's industry, will be highly valued by that large section of the public which takes a lively interest in the history of the army."—Broad Arrow.

"The careers of most of the officers are briefly recalled, and the record of their services in that ever memorable struggle is most interestingly given. The full index greatly facilitates reference."—United Service Gazette.

"The work contains a list, as far as obtainable, of the officers, non-commissioned officers, and privates engaged in the battle, together with a great deal of information touching their families and careers."—Yorkshire Post.

"Mr. Dalton has produced the first complete Waterloo Roll Call. . . . . Looking like a mere catalogue of names at first sight, it is enriched with anecdotes of the fight and short biographies of the men engaged."—Manchester Evening Mail.

"An annotated Waterloo Army List, which is of considerable interest"—Western Daily Press.

"A great mass of information about the families and careers of the Waterloo heroes, and numerous anecdotes of adventures and hair-breadth escapes on the battle-field."—Daily News.

"A keepsake worth having."—Daily Chronicle.

"The biographical sketches, portraits, and anecdotes combine to make it a bright and interesting record."—Globe.

"Dedicated to the Earl of Albemarle, whose portrait (an excellent likeness) forms the frontispiece. The careers of most of the officers are briefly recalled."—Morning Post.

"The author has evidently compiled the work with great care. There are some excellent portraits accompanying the book, appropriately leading off with the Earl of Albemarle. Altogether this Waterloo Army List is a work which should be in every mess-room in the Service, and deserves study by all interested in the literature of war."—Naval and Military Argus.

"A complete Waterloo Roll Call—complete at least as far as the officers are concerned. The lists of the officers of all the corps are given and are supplemented with very full biographical notices, which must have cost a great deal of pains to compile. The little book is a valuable one, and will, no doubt, find a place in every English library."—Volunteer Service Gazette.

"The body of the work consists of an annotated Army List, which outlines the careers of those engaged at Waterloo. We heartily commend it to officers for perusal."—Illustrated Naval and Military Magazine.

"The book contains a surprising amount of information concerning the officers who fought at Waterloo, and much interesting anecdotal matter."—St. James's Gazette.

"It is strangely characteristic of the English nation that there is no general commemoration of this decisive struggle of the nations in which we bore so great a part, and certainly a complete roll call of the Englishmen engaged in it ought to have been compiled ere now. Now that the neglect has been remedied, it is pleasant to know that it has been well done."—Daily Graphic.

" . . . . An undoubted want in our literature of that eventful campaign . . . . very interesting and instructive. A capital likeness of General the Earl of Albemarle, a still vigorous survivor of the great battle, forms an appropriate frontispiece."—Army and Navy Gazette.

LIFE AND TIMES OF
GENERAL SIR EDWARD CECIL,
VISCOUNT WIMBLEDON.

(IN TWO VOLUMES.)

EXTRACTS FROM REVIEWS.

“His volumes are almost as captivating in their way as the pages of Bishop Burnet or Clarendon.”—Daily Telegraph.

“Mr. Dalton is a diligent and truth-loving investigator. His account of the Cadiz voyage is by far the best that has been written.”—Academy.

“A mine of information which may be explored with profit by the student, and with pleasure by the general reader.”—Army and Navy Gazette.

“He has told his story in a most unexceptionable spirit.”—St. James’s Gazette.

“The mass of contemporary documents, admirably annotated and indexed that Mr. Dalton has collected, illustrating the War of Dutch Independence and English history during the reigns of James and Charles I., is of much value.”—Athenaeum.

EXTRACTS FROM REVIEWS.

“A graphic and pains-taking narrative of certain of the leading events connected with the founding of our Indian Empire.”—Home News.

“As a record of his ancestor’s military services, this little volume deserves all praise for the proofs of pains-taking research that show themselves in almost every page.”—Athenaeum.

“Mr. Dalton has done very well to publish this memoir of his great-grandfather (whose journal it now appears was a main source of Orme’s “History of the War in India”), and the book gives us a lively picture of the life of a last-century soldier.”—Army and Navy Gazette.
